CHATTING IT UP, Senior Brenda Rios enjoys Senior Sunrise. Rios ran into Maria Abeyta and Evelyn Caudillo at the event. "Senior Sunrise was fun because it was the first time my parents let me go out early in the morning to see the sunrise with my friends," Rios said. PHOTO BY MARIANA ORTEGA RIVERA

YOU'LL MAKE IT
YOU'LL MAKE IT
YOU'LL MAKE IT

WHIPPING UP A MEAL, senior Melanie Quezada participates in foods and nutrition class. The class had both remote and in-person cooking labs. "The hardest thing in cooking for me was obviously trying to maintain my distance with other people and being careful of the things everyone used because we all shared the ingredients and the equipment," Quezada said. PHOTO BY MARIANA ORTEGA RIVERA SUSPENDED IN AIR, singles player senior Henry Nguyen finishes his serve. "The season was very weird at first, especially during the summer workouts. We had to stand far apart and we couldn't touch the tennis balls but after the first couple of weeks I got comfortable in our situation and I was honestly very grateful to even have had a senior season," Nguyen said. PHOTO BY ELLIE VICE PLAYING THE TUBA, senior Arturo Estrada takes part in band. "Band has been memorable this year by just having others in the band class with us playing," Estrada said. Despite not having a concert, band would still continue to practice. PHOTO BY ELLIE VICE

THROUGH THE SUMMER/FALL

TRUST US,
You'll become the change you want to see.

THROUGH THE June protests,
you'll find your voice
like junior Lameese Mackawi
who spoke out in support of BLM
and in advocation to defund APD.

You'll stay bold and compassionate
Like junior Nirmala Rusli, who raised $6,513
in COVID relief funds for her birthday.
You'll find new ways to connect and share
with your peers even if its online, Like senior Junior Sangare who got a sponsorship after he blew up on TikTok with 53 million views on one video.

YOU'LL MAKE IT THROUGH.

When you get back to school,
You'll have to get used to not seeing packed halls
and long lines in the parking lot.
You'll miss your close friends
in the other cohort,
And you'll learn to bring your own hand sanitizer.

YOU'LL MAKE IT THROUGH THE NOISE
Of your math packet sticking to your desk because Ms. Tran sprayed Re-Juv-Nal right before class,
like freshman Aruinbolor Zurkhbaatar
and you'll make it through the anxiety
each time you get an email
after someone tests positive.

TRUST US, YOU'LL MAKE IT THROUGH THE NOISE.

SPEEDING AWAY, senior Jimmy Granados rides a go-kart. "As long as I know that me and my friends aren't infected we try to do everything we can to spend time with each other and have a good time," Granados said. Through spending time with friends, Granados tried to stay positive throughout the pandemic. PHOTO BY MARIANA ORTEGA RIVERA
