WE COMPETE

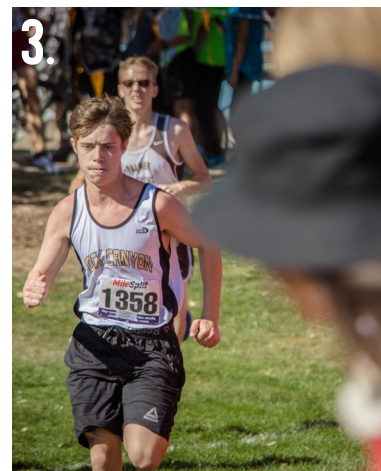

STUDENT ATHLETES STEP UP TO COMPETE IN FALL SPORTS

NO 'I' IN TEAM

Ainsley Messenger '20 swings at the ball Sept. 7 at the junior varsity Softball game against Ralston Valley. They finished up their season with 9 wins, 10 losses. The team was made up of mostly swing players--girls who played for both varsity and JV. For JV's final tournament, the girls placed third out of five teams. "Obviously, you can't really play by yourself. The thing is, you have to think about how what you're doing is going to help the rest of your team and when you're on the field, it's constant teamwork," Shelby Johnson '20 said. "We have to work together," Amanda Banks '20 said. "It's like any team--you have to work together."

2. SPRINTING TO A WIN

At the varsity soccer game against Chapparral, Kai Wetzal '19 sprints down the field, Sept. 18. They won the game 3-1. "I just like the fact that pretty much anybody can play it if they just try hard enough," Wetzal said. "Most of my teammates are all on the same club team so we usually hang out with each other outside of team practices."

3. A PRIDEFUL FINISH

Donovan McMullen '22 sprints to the finish line at Rock Canyon's home cross country meet, the Jaguar Invitational, Sept. 15. The team hosted 25 schools at the Rock Canyon/Runner's Roost Invitational, Saturday morning. "I decided to run cross country because I find that when I run it relieves my stress," McMullen said. "I show my pride for my team by wearing the cross country shirts in public and try to invite as many people as I can to the races." McMullen finished 35 in the JV meet with a time of 19:27:20.
