

THIS TRIUMPH

MORNING PRACTICE. ABSOLUTELY BRUTAL. ABSOLUTELY FREEZING. THE POOL WAS DEFINITELY NOT THIS COLD LAST NIGHT.

WORTH IT?

We stared at our wardrobes and desperately tried to channel that inner Disney princess for the next dress up day.

With each lap completed, we knew we were faster than anyone thought, surging with new-found motivation every time we passed our teammates on the sidelines;

WE WERE STRONGER TOGETHER.

That 5:20 mile time must be beat.

We created our own path, the courageous girls wrestling team took on a whole new set of challenges never seen before.

Decked out in nothing but black and gold we flooded the stands of LPS Stadium.

We shared glitter and paint, hoping the color would show through the flour we inevitably left covered in.

There we were again, coming together onto the sidelines for one last time out.

Students poured onto the field as the boys football team chanted at the top of their lungs after defeating Rock Canyon at the Homecoming game.

And we all knew LUCK HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT.

We practiced longer, ran harder and put all of our energy into every play, move and moment.

The JV football boys were 1st in division, uniting as one to get all five wins.

For hours on end, the cheer team perfected their basket tosses in the cafeteria until it was ready for Centennial League.

How is it dark outside already?

IT WAS ALL FOR THIS MOMENT: the feeling that consumes us at every banquet, every game, every win and every loss. That feeling of knowing that no matter how today or tomorrow goes, you'll be surrounded by the people who know you better than anyone;

YOUR TEAMMATES, MORE LIKE FRIENDS, MORE LIKE FAMILY.

WORTH IT.

Paving the way for future female wrestlers, the school's first all girls wrestling team competed all season in an up and coming Colorado sport. Baton in hand, a sprinter pushes her way to her teammate during the 4x400 relay at the Fleet Feet Qualifier. At the first annual Foundation game, MAX BRONSON dodges a Regis defender. Just out of the grasp of a Rock Canyon player, JOHN HANCOCK helps the team secure a win for the team at the Homecoming game. Holding their trophy aloft, JOHN BRONSON and JOHN HANCOCK celebrate the historic boys soccer team win at State.
