

CAUGHT IN THE ACTION

Joking around at STEM

One of the most amazing things about STEM is the environment that is created by our special programs like CyberPatriots.

Students work hard at designing and building a stable and safe environment for all students at all levels.

"CyberPatriots is such a cool thing I look forward to everyday! It's so much fun!"

-Grant Gooding ('21)

Don't be fooled. These students play just as much as they work.

Most enjoy not just designing the programs, but having the chance to overview and test out their own designs and projects. It is a programs created by the Air Force Association with the purpose of encouraging kids to enter into cybersecurity or other science, technology, engineering, and mathematical disciplines.

STEM is currently one of ten schools that offer the program to highschool students. Students at all levels and abilities have the opportunity to grow and experience something that many kids in the U.S. never have the chance to learn or know about.

