

What We Have In

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

Valentines Vibes

Cresthillians show off their great moves and strike some awesome poses.

Strike A Pose

Dakota Garrick and Paris Sprague get all dressed up and show off their supermodel poses for a photo shoot on Valentines Day.

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

“Remember, there’s no such thing as a small act of kindness. Every act creates a ripple with no logical end.”

-Scott Adams

The Maniatis Family sends an abundance of gratitude to the Cresthill community and, most especially, to the students who have been warriors of support and love for our own warrior, Will Maniatis... he misses everyone and is there in spirit. #spartanstrong #teamwill

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

Computer Crew

Rachel Benner and her fellow students analyze a video of a Holocaust survivor to wrap up their experience at the Holocaust museum exhibit.

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

Remembering the Past

Students patiently wait for the big opening of the Holocaust Museum exhibit in the learning commons, an educational opportunity for them to learn more about what happened during the Holocaust.

Photo By: Anna Rudnicki

Time for Teamwork

Students work in groups to complete worksheets and talk about what they learned at the Holocaust Museum.

Summit

“I like the new no cell-phone policy for learning but other than that, not so much.”
-Isaac Maldonado

Horizon

“I really like the new no phone policy, but I wish we could still listen to music.”
-Sarah Davis

Trekkers

“I use my phone when I do homework to double-check answers with peers.”
-Kiley Huffman

Common Events In The Commons Bring Us Together

Spread the Love

Cresthill students band together to make a video to William Maniatis to show their support at Cresthill's Valentines party.

Attention! Kids At Work!

Students get to show off what they have learned so far as they fill out worksheets on exhibits at the Holocaust Museum.

For the Love of Chess

Cresthill students play an intense and complicated game of chess as they try to out-smart their opponent.

Blast From the past

Ella Huddleston, Brayden Chirico, Travis Bray and Joseph Herrera are working hard to complete their project for the Holocaust Museum. "It was really fun to learn about and the museum was a cool experience," commented Ella.

Kindness is Key

After the 8th grade Holocaust assembly, some students gather around the guest speaker to personally thank her.

Legend

"I like the new phone policy because everyone is kinder and works together more."
-Amber Congdon

Navigators

"I don't really use my phone when I do homework."
-Max Guessas

Explorers

"I don't really care about the new phone rule. I think I'd be okay either way."
-Cameron Westergard