STAFF EDITORIAL

As a staff, we decided that we wanted to shine a light on the current culture of high school parties. Since partying is becoming more and more popular as people start to get deeper into high school, it is important for students to understand what is going on at these parties.

This allows them to be prepared for what to expect and what to do if they are put in a situation they aren't comfortable with.

Pages 8-9 reflect the current party culture demonstrated by students. In order to gather the statistics, senior Carmen Palmblad created a survey that gave us information about what goes on at parties. This survey was taken by 35 people, who gave eye-opening responses. One of these responses being the story about an anonymous source and how she was a victim of sexual assault.

This part of page 8 is the section that is intended to mean the most to fellow students and people who are reading the piece. Yes, this piece is graphic and uncomfortable to read, so if you are not comfortable with topics regarding sexual assault, read with caution.

We felt that it was important to include because this is real life. These horrific acts of sexual assault happen every 73 seconds, according to RAINN.org. By sharing this story, we are hoping that other victims of sexual assault know that there are people out there who are in the same situation, and there are people who can help them.

As we all continue throughout high school, we as young adults need to understand that this is happening all the time, hence why we at the View decided to make it the main focus of our March issue.

A CORRECTION FROM MAXIM BOJORQUEZ: To Our Readers, I want to apologize to our readers and the staff of The View for foul language that occurred on page six of our last issue. I want to make something clear to everyone; this was an accident. I would never put something in The View that could damage the reputation of our student newspaper. Newspaper can be very stressful sometimes and this was a result of being really stressed out. I was distraught when I saw that we all failed to notice the use of bad language. On behalf of CV Media and the newspaper team. We are all very sorry and will continue to release The View at our fullest potential. We hope to continue to build and regain your trust as we release more top-notch issues for our community.
