Anchor Instructions

- Make sure that you've read through your lines out loud at least two times before we start recording.
- Wear something nice the day of your shoot, and also make sure that the lapel mic can clip to it.
- Practice your lines in front of a mirror so you can practice which camera you're looking at and see what your facial expression is like!
- Be as charismatic and high energy as you can! Trust me, we'll tell you if it's too much.
- Ask about name pronunciations before you say them on air, we can write them phonetically for you.
- Speak slowly and clearly so people understand you, we're not under a time limit!

Jack: Good Morning Tigers, welcome to the Erie Tiger Network News. I'm Jack Laychak

Grayson: And I'm Grayson Wolff. We know we've been MIA the past couple of weeks, but we have been cooking up something special for you.

Jack: That's right. Our reporters have been out and about to showcase the hard work they have put in all semester.

Grayson: While we can't cover it all, we certainly tried our best. So before we head into finals week, lets see what our amazing students have been doing to get to this point.

Jack: Erie High school is the first school in our district to introduce an AP Capstone Program, and students in our school have made it grow into the valuable program it is today. Let's go to Evan Welch and Parker Evans on the story

Jack: Thanks Parker and Evan!

Grayson: Did you know that Erie High has a robotics team? I didn't, but they have been working hard all year long. Joe Vennard and Frank Ayeire went to see what exactly goes into be apart of the robotics team.

Grayson: Thanks Joe, its good to know that when robots take over the world, they will be on Erie's side.

Jack: EHS Theatre students are currently at Thescon, a theatre convention for high school students across Colorado. Many of which are auditioning for colleges and performing for judges to get critiques which will make our theatre program even stronger. Lets go to Danay Schara and Emily Chilcott about Thescon

Jack: Thanks Danay and Emily, and break a leg to all students performing.

Grayson: But now that we've covered some successes inside of the school, we wanted to see the hard work that students are putting in outside of it. Plenty of people work jobs outside of school, and Spencer Blalock and Evan Welch went out to see where exactly everyone is working.

Jack: Erie students are putting in the hours not only in school, but after school to bring in some of that much needed cash.

Grayson: Finally, we couldn't go without mentioning our athletic programs. One specifically made waves last weekend, and it was Erie Cheer. They are your 4A State Champions, and everyone is proud. To get the feeling of the weekend, you really had to be there, but if you weren't, I covered it to give you a close feeling. Here is my recap of the cheer state competition.

Grayson: Congrats again Erie Cheer. Everyone here is proud of you.

Jack: But outside of cheer, this fall every Erie Sport went to a state level of competition. We go to Josh Randolph for our Fall sport recap, and our winter sport preview. Take it away Josh.

Grayson: Thanks Josh. It truly has been an amazing year for all of Erie, but there is just one thing left to conquer.

Jack: As most of you know, Finals are just around the corner.

(B roll)

While it is a stressful time, it is also a time to bring up your grades. It is important that you are on top of your schedule and doing all that you can do to make Studying is key, and every student has a way to do it that is just right for them.

(interview)

Jack: Bring those grades home tigers, unless you want a big sack of coal from Santa.

Grayson: That's all for this semester tigers, make sure to follow us on twitter and instagram at Erie Tiger Media.

Jack: Thanks for watching all semester, we'll be back in Janaury. Have a safe Winter Break, and go tigers.
