

CADE BEAN (12)...

Waving for the crowd, Bean smiles his way through the last HOME performance.

JOELLE GREEN (12)...

Green puts on an emotional last performance during the bands last community performance.

KATELYN BROWNLIEE (12)...

Head held high, Brownlee takes one step at a time and gets through an emotional last performance as a senior.

PLAY FROM THE HEART...

Saxophone section leader Monique Santos (12) said, "The one thing that I want to leave behind is that as long as you have a welcoming heart, everyone else will welcome you. HOME to me is a place where you can show the very vulnerable side of you and not be ashamed of what is exposed."

KEEPING RHYTHM...

Flute section leader Lexi Nigro (12), said, "HOME is where I feel free to be myself. Marching band was one of the first times I had a community of people that I could be myself around and allowed me to discover what I love to do. I want to tell future band members not to take a single moment for granted. You don't realize how quickly four years goes by until you're on the field during state championships giving your last performance, and suddenly, it's over. Make memories. Spend time with your friends. Live your life so that when you look back after graduation, you don't have a single regret."

...What we call,

KICKIN' BRASS...

Klara Cordova (12) said, "HOME, to me, is the idea that no matter what, there are people to support you and what you're going through. You might be living across the world, but deep down you know that if you need help, you can reach out and receive the support you need."

KEEPING OUR COM-POSTURE...

Trumpet held high for the crowd, Feliz Martinez (10) keeps her posture and plays loud and proud for the seniors last HOME show.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS... "Something I'll never forget about the season is how supportive people were and the way they always helped me keep up my confidence. To me, HOME means opportunity. It gave me a chance to step out of my shell and become a better person and performer. It means trust and a real account of how a community can work together."

WORKING THE QUADS...

HOME is not a place, it is a feeling of comfort. I will never forget how band has been a safe place, my venting family, always filled with laughter, and my true HOME. I want to leave behind the fact that my favorite memories from high school have been in the marching band; from the exhaustingly hot rehearsals, to the moment when it was all worth it. Make these moments count. Work hard, but get to know the people around you that will become your family. Don't be afraid to have fun and be crazy while set on a serious goal. I will miss each and every one of you weird band children, and I will miss being a section leader to my drumline. Ya'll never cease to put a smile on my face and have made me the person I am today. Kick some booty next season!

Love,
Augi

Q

What impact did this season have on you?

"Seeing everyone grow around me emotionally and giving everything they had to keep the program going inspired me to be the best leader I could possibly be. In the end, I learned that HOME is a place where nobody is afraid of failure."

STAY IN STEP THROUGH STATE!

MAKING IT INTO THE HISTORY BOOKS... Eaton High School Marching band marches their way through State and brings HOME gold. Being one of the smallest bands to perform on the state field, the band has always been humble. After winning State, Band Director Logan Doddridge said, "Didn't know Grand Junction was a mining town because we sure are coming back with a lot of gold!"

Lead bass player, Shawn Doyle, puts on a performance as if he is the only one on the field. Doyle said, "HOME is a family. I try to get on top of the beat and stay in a constant groove."
