

○ Celebrating At The Soccer Fields

Two seniors commemorate Senior Sunrise early in the morning on Aug. 16. "It makes me think of how the beginning of this year and how it's my last. I'm done. I'm graduating," Summer Siggins (12) said. Senior Sunrise inspired Siggins to think back on those three years she had already accomplished, feeling nostalgic.

4 Cougar Hills Commons Be Kind remember

Remembering The Bleachers "I think it depends on the person. But for me, yes. I have always had a hard time letting go of different places I made memories at. I've always felt this certain way. I think I feel that way because people change and locations don't. I feel a sense of comfort in their stability. My favorite place is probably the school gym because I used to attend school events freshman year and they were always a lot of fun back then," Kaitlyn Jensen (12) said.

○ Chilling In The Commons

"For example, like if you have your favorite place for vacation, you're going to have certain memories that you tie to a certain location. And so whenever you see something that reminds you of that location, you can start to think of the memory. I would say [my favorite place in the school] is the Commons, because that's where everyone can just hang out and it's the main center of the school," Jaime Coronel (9) said.
