THIS IS

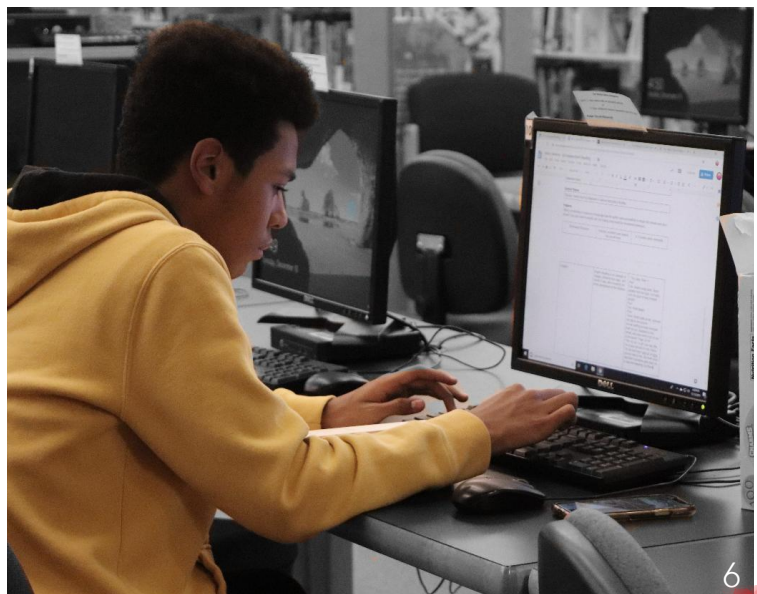

HOT COCOA

SOCIAL

ITS FINALS WEEK AND RAIDERS ARE ABLE TO COME AND GET EXTRA HELP FROM THEIR TEACHERS OR STUDY WITH A GROUP OF FRIENDS WHILE THEY ENJOY A CUP OF HOT CHOCOLATE. A LOT OF RAIDERS DECIDED TO COME AND GET EXTRA HELP TO MAKE SURE THEY ACED FINALS WEEK AND TEACHER SHOWED UP TO SUPPORT THEIR STUDENTS AND MAKE SURE THAT THEY GOT THE ASSISTANCE THAT THEY NEEDED.

Hot CoCoa Social is an event put on by the National Honors Society. This event is meant to help students and give them extra time to study and get help from their teachers before finals week. Not only do teachers come to help and support their students, but volunteer to help other students get a better understanding of a subject that they are struggling in. They do this because they recognize that there are more students than there are teachers and acing finals week is a team effort. Although the Hot CoCoa social helped many people think that the Hot CoCoa social could be a little more productive in the sense that people aren't so comfortable with asking questions or asking for help because it's just not some thing that we do. But I think that having teachers go around and initiate conversations would be a really smart idea, but other than that it was really good," said Junior Sarah Aschenberg. The Hot CoCoa social is a great way for us to work as a team and get good grades and there is also room for improvement.

"It was really comforting and helpful,"
