

BYE-DON VS 4 MORE YEARS

As the highly influential election comes to its results, two staff members defend each side

Donald Trump needs to get out of office. Why is he not fit for another four years? The evidence speaks for itself: saying that Obama was born in Kenya, proposing to nuke a hurricane, getting impeached, etc. It's funny, but other things aren't. His actions as president made life a lot harder for millions. According to ACLU.org, at least 2,654 children were separated from their families because of his administration, and according to the Pew Research Center, fewer refugees have been admitted since 2016 than ever.

Because of his Muslim Ban, my Jewish grandpa who lives in London was denied entry into the US solely because he was born in a Muslim country.

Donald Trump was not fit for a presidential term to begin with, let alone two.

Our best shot is Biden and Harris. While Donald Trump completely failed to manage this crisis (he suggested injecting yourself with bleach, then he contracted it himself after making fun of Biden for wearing masks), Biden will better enforce social distancing.

This is imperative. We owe it to ourselves, to each other, and to the 200,000 Americans who have died. It is real; it is urgent.

Secondly, Biden will protect immigrants and refugees. Research shows we need immigrants, economically and demographically, to support our country. To help immigrants is to help everyone.

Above all, Biden supports equality. Is it a coincidence that during Obama and Biden's administration they lit up the White House in beautiful rainbow colors during Pride month, while last June Trump's administration had it in complete darkness because they were in a government shutdown? It's not.

Trump, although he repeatedly calls himself "the least racist person," has done nothing for the African American community this summer. This is why 83% of Black voters are for Biden and only 10% are for Trump (sorry, Kanye).

Trump is not worthy to lead an America for all, but Joe Biden is. That is why I say: Biden 2020!

Election day is on Nov. 3 and will have an impact on the entire country. There are two main choices that Americans have in mind; Donald Trump or Joe Biden. Trump has experience as a president and during his first term, he did many different things to benefit the United States. Trump has appointed two new judges, had historic tax cuts, strengthened the military, protected unborn babies, and expanded educational freedom.

To be a great president you need the confidence to lead an entire country. No one has confidence like Trump and it shows as he leads the United States.

"Our country, our people, and our laws have to be our top priority," Trump said. (Washington Post)

During his presidency, the U.S. unemployment rate hit a half-century low of 3.5 percent in late 2019 and stayed around that level through February 2020. (Washington Post.

When Trump was running for his first term he promised tax cuts, that was a key reason as to why he was elected.

"And just as I promised, the American people from this podium eleven months ago, we enacted the biggest tax cuts and reforms in American history," Trump said. (Greatpoliticalbook.com)

The biggest topic that can be brought up in any situation this year is COVID-19. Trump formed a COVID-19 task force and continues to do as much as he can to help stop the spread.

"Protecting Americans' health also means fighting infectious diseases. We are coordinating with the Chinese government and working closely together on the coronavirus outbreak in China. My administration will take all necessary steps to safeguard our citizens from this threat," Trump said.

"Joe, I ran because of you. I ran because of Barack Obama. Because you did a poor job. If I thought you did a good job, I would have never run," said Trump. (US news.com)
