Taking Precautions- While trying to make the newspaper, the class is constantly cleaning, using hand sanitizer, and taking all the steps to a COVID free classroom. Hand sanitizer, Clorox wipes, and Lysol spray have become our best friends.

Don't Mess with the Bosses- Co-Head editors Ryker Alonzo (left) and Domonique Lopez (below) are always working to make sure The Alamosan staff is getting their deadlines done on time. With the will of giving up their free time to make the newspaper better, these are the two to go to before anyone else.

Sophomoreitis- Sophomore Kyler Liddell (left) admitted to having "senioritis" but as a sophomore. Pushing through that, he writes great content and has been dedicated to the class from his freshman year and will continue that dedication to his senior year.
