Whether younide, walk, or use a push cant, golfisby far one off the most difficult sports to master. Hitting a small white ball with a mallet type object into a mason jar sized hole over 400 yards away seems like a daunting task in and of itself. When you add in trees, rough, bunkers, slick greens, uphill lies, sweeping downhill putts and stiff wind, navigating a golf course reveals a lot about your character--but our Panthers make it look easy. Golf is slowly but surely growing in popularity among Woodland Park students. You can go to our local golf course and and see for yourself; we have high schoolers there every weekend. Lucky for us, there's a pretty astonishing group of athletes representing our school this year out on the course. All the guys love being out on the course, whether it be "...getting tinget ou besidet's idean (Early ler AV be A 200); 23), hangling ginth with the fiser (Der-(Derekhackhaz), 'a2) uor gestiggtting to goelfave at upractice stress steess fvice emvirt no Tent naments, on the other hand, are a different sTory: nomenes I Viathe Vatheir have lathese differentiations foncing division Varsity develathes to chernet the solf of the solo to the playing an ector the destellente gatttes" astratesd Skenipla Matt Areektyit 2 di ff From tygiahme. Greg Pinell '24, a golf player since the age of 5, was asked if he would consider playing golf in college or retirement. He answered truthfully: "Heck yeah! For sure."

"It hasn't affected it too much, besides the fact that you have to wear a mask," said Matthew Lecky '21 when asked how Covid-19 has affected his season and/or his love for the sport.

"I think it's a good challenge for yourself, because you to learn to control yourself...and make sure you have a good shot, and every little mistake matters," explained Derek Eckhart '22.

EVAN CISNEROS TEES OFF RECORD SEASON!

"It means a lot to have that accomplishment of going to state three times. ... It's a feeling I will never forget. Despite the hardness of the tournament, just going out there and competing against some of the best players in the state is a lot of fun." A lot of long hours, hard work and dedication go into earning your spot at state. To no surprise, this year Evan Cisneros '21 made it to state for the third time in a row; more than any golfer in the history of Woodland Park. He ranked 3rd in the 2020 4a CSML Southern standings, earning him a First Team All League title.
