Full of questions, undefined moments, and unprecedented obstacles, 2020•2021 was a year like no other. Through our resilience, we have found LIMITLESS OPPORTUNITIES to define the year. This book is more than just pictures & words; it is how we communicate our stories and truths. One word was not enough; this is why the book, just like the year, is...

"For me,
 high school was an AMAZING
 growth period.
 Looking back to freshman year, I was extremely shy and unsure of myself, but these four short years
 have allowed me to grow into a CON·FI·
 young woman."

"One time that I wished time stopped moving was when I was in double overtime in a lacrosse game. The feeling I had was the best and I wish I could still have that feeling right now. I just felt the adrenaline and all I could think about was the game."

Connor Scarborough - 24

"I wish time stopped moving when I went mini golfing with my friends because it was the first time we all hung out together outside of school. I knew that the group of people were going to be long term friends because we all clicked really well and matched each other's energy. We were all cracking jokes the whole time and being super energetic around each other."

Charlotte Nielsen - 22

"A time when I wished time would stop moving was Spring Break 2020. When coronavirus became surreal and the world went into lock down, spring break seemed so short and so insignificant since everyone had already been in quarantine for two weeks or so. If I could freeze time during this period then it would be so much more satisfying."

"Summer is usually the time I spend hanging out WITH FRIENDS the most, and it's the only time of year I see my extended family. While I occasionally catch up on work that I didn't do during the rest of the year, summer is usually the most RE·LAXING time during my year."

"Over the summer, my family and I took a trip up to Snowmass and Aspen for a few days. From hiking to hammocking to driving to the Continental Divide, we spent the whole trip enjoying the crisp mountain air and the awe-inspiring views. While the whole trip was filled with bliss, I would have to say that my favorite part was waking up at four in the morning for a sunrise hike. The lack of sleep and energy from hiking that early was all worth it when I was able to watch a 360° view of the sun rising over the mountains."

Sonya Strauss - 21

"Last winter, my family decided to start adding onto our house. We made a little progress over the winter and spring, but once summer started and we were all out of school, we renewed our efforts to build. This summer, we worked on putting up walls and a roof and putting up the outside of the walls so it was closed in. We also put in new windows. Because my family and I were doing this by ourselves, it took a little longer, but it was super fun."

Emilee Harding - 24

"My favorite memory from the summer is getting Taco Bell with my friends. Since nothing was open it allowed us to see each other. It was something that we could do whenever without having to worry about it being open."

"I honestly think that the sports are better in winter because I think they are more entertaining than the ones in summer. I also think that winter does have some really fun activities like snowboarding and ice skating but I think that the activities you can do in other seasons are better."

Stori Blois - 24

"I think it was always fun to walk down to 7/11 after school in the snow during the winter. The cold wakes me up and it feels nice. I also like to go winter camping and staying at friends houses, then go sledding and cook brunch."

Issac Narang - 23

"For me, winter has been pretty uneventful. Usually it's a fun time full of indoor soccer games, preseason drop-ins, and get togethers with friends and family. It's unfortunate we couldn't have some of those things this year, but on the bright side, I did get some extra time to spend with the dogs."

"Time is IRRELEVANT so use it well.

I mean, that's kind of contradictory, and then also, just time is rel·e·vant,

so you've got to make the best of it.

What I mean that it's irrelevant is eventually you'll

FORGET RIGHT?

Eventually, this won't be here anymore, so it doesn't really matter

too much what you do, but at the same time be

HAP·PY a·bout it."

Clint Foss - 22

"In my free time I think about how a lot of people think this, but I feel like everyone sees different colors, but they all call them the same color, you know, cause that is what they were taught. So like my red could be your green, but I call it red because that is what I was taught. It's so weird."

Marin McCarty - 23

"Bad things still happen, it's just a matter of how you handle them, so going back [in time] to avoid one major thing seems pointless because something will replace it, and sometimes the things from our past we wish we could erase are what make us who we are."
