

leaders rise by lifting

Current juniors ran in the leadership elections for their senior year. These are just a few that won in senior body and class positions for next year.

OTHERS

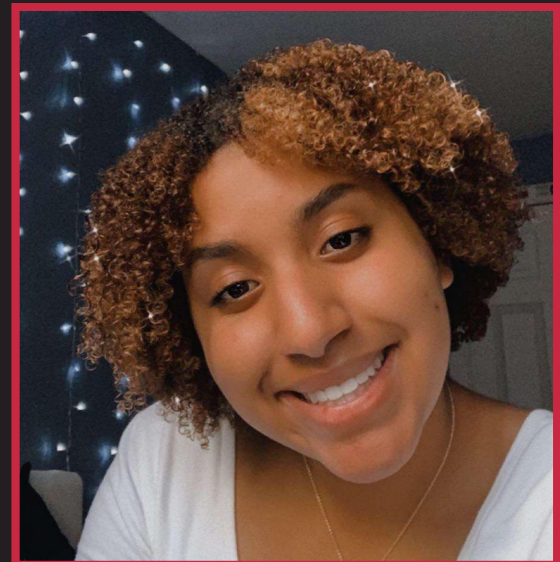

When Leadership election started, students were ready to bring on the completion of elections. Junior Vivian Tran choose to run for Student body President because she wants to make sure she goes above and beyond! "I've admired all the past student body presidents, so running for this position was something I've always had in mind." As she pushes her way thought the campaign she says, "I think the class of 2022 has come a long way since our freshman year, and now that we're gonna be seniors, I want to make sure that we have more spirit than ever. I'm also hoping to bring back some old traditions or even create new ones. It can be difficult for one person to represent over 2,000 people. So I really want to make sure that I'm working in favor of everyone's best interest and making sure everyone gets heard," exclaimed Tran.

Junior Danielle Volden, "did not run for Student Body Vice President to simply put it on my resume. I ran to serve Rangeview- whether that means spending countless hours at the school, stepping up to do the jobs nobody else wants to do, or even just helping my peers succeed, I am prepared to do whatever is necessary." She wanted to have a higher position than class vice president. She wanted to take on higher responsibility, "it's time student leadership isn't looked at as some kind of independent, exclusive group, but as friends you can trust. And this is exactly what I plan on doing, one step towards making next year, everybody's best," said Volden

Junior Joslyn Bowman's main goal is to make everyone feel welcomed. "As Senior Class President, I want to bring back that spirit that has been missing due to how bad the past year has been. I want there to be as many events as possible, but to make sure these events appeal to everyone at Rangeview. One thing that's in the works is starting a Google Form that is always available to students, this will allow for people to put their concerns and issues. I want to make sure that the class of 2022 has the best senior year possible because we missed out on so much. But I hope to be able to see everyone in person soon, and I look forward to helping as many people as I can!"

Junior Joshua Alvarez ran in the Leadership elections and won Senior Class President. "I ran because I already attempt and continuously try to be a leader, and most importantly to speak up for the student body." Josh goes above and beyond, "I just feel like what I could do to make it the best year possible for our class is to never give up, especially with current circumstances, like the pandemic. A lot of people just give up and claim nothing can be done because the circumstances, but that's not the case, We can do a lot and for me that means truly represent our class. I ran and am thankful I won so that way I can have a much larger platform with a bunch of support and resources to help me continue to represent our class and the student body on a much larger scale."

Junior Kaouatr El Ouadi is determined to be involved and to make sure everyone gets the Raider experience. "After winning my class positions as Senior Class Secretary, I am determined to contribute to my community and commit to my role by bringing a sense of organization, communication and connection. I believe I can bring value to our community and display different perspectives that some might have missed. Overall, I want to bring in the sense of community we once had. With everything being virtual it's hard connecting with your teachers and peers and I hope I can be that bridge that will connect the two once again. I believe that through teamwork in the leadership class we can help provide all of the students at Rangeview to have the best year of their high school career. By all of us pitch in we can begin helping with planning events or activities that of course fall under COVID guidelines."

Junior Lolita Angelcheva decided to run in elections, she won Senior Class Treasurer. "Personally, I feel like with my position in leadership as senior class treasurer, I can contribute to my community by creating and advertising new and interesting ideas." She is quite innovative. "I can help create events where people can come and have fun and still be a part of the school and Rangeview spirit overall. I also feel like something I can do to make sure we have the best year is just by being myself and involving myself into everything possible. With everything going on, I feel like it's important to show commitment to Rangeview and my class."

Junior Daniel Higgins hopes to keep everything in line and fun, "as incoming Senior Class Historian, I want to make sure that we keep accurate documentation of the events that happen throughout the school year." As someone running for historian, he must be very creative. "I also want the senior class homecoming video to be the best it can be. I will help in any way to making next year a fun, amazing, senior year. We deserve normality after all the craziness we've seen this past year," said Higgins.

Winter

113