

are you ready?

Ready to see the turning of the leaves as you walk to school?

Ready to see Carlos bunched up at the crosswalk yelling "Keep moving down" at drivers during drop-off?

Ready to leave school using the door closest to your 7th period class?

2:52 if your class is on the first floor,

2:55 if it's on the second.

Ready to practice flag football inside because a snow storm rolled in? Slipping and sliding everywhere on the gym floor because you forgot to bring regular shoes, and Mr. Bennett threatening you with sprints if you mess around?

Ready to get quarantined because you got the email from Mr. Veit about a COVID exposure? Or not seeing Ms. Donchion because she's teaching from home for the fourth time?

are you ready?

1. SUNSET BY SAUNDNESS As the pink sun goes down with these cotton candy clouds, Hailey Sweich (8) thinks about these beautiful sunsets and how they are caused. Oct. 22. Sweich really enjoyed seeing the sunsets because they were really pretty. "I just didn't like that they were caused by fires that hurts us and the earth." Photo courtesy of Erica Milligan.

2. HALLOWEEN HOWLS Halloween, a day where you go door to door asking for candy by saying, "Trick or treat!" For friends Greyson Walter (8), Foster Walter (8), and Hailey Sweich (8) they do it a little differently. Oct. 31. "We spent the night rapping, a lot. We did ghost photoshoots and other things." Foster Walter said. Photo by: Scram Breed.

3. KINDA BIRTHDAY A birthday spent at the zoo is a different experience, as Finley Milligan (8) noted. Oct. 11. "I love to see the animals but it was a little weird because you could only go one way so it was like one big loop." Milligan said. Photo courtesy of Erica Milligan.

4. PRODUCTIVE STUDENTS PRESENT The first vaccination drill of the year was socially distanced. Oct. 22. Students have had me they now look forward to fire drills because they get to go outside. When they go outside other lunch they are allowed to take their masks off but when we do drills like this they can't. Ms. Beanne Moore, Lancaster language arts teacher said. Photo by: Scram Breed.
