

K: Welcome back from the break, Rampart. We hope you had a great vacation and start to the new year. This is Kenneth Karls.

B: And I'm Blair Snyder.

K: Since we were unable to produce a show during finals week, we need to congratulate some of our fellow Rams on things that happened just before the break.

B: Congratulations go to the cheer team at the state spirit competition. They placed 1st among all of the Colorado Springs teams that competed, including Doherty, Coronado, Mitchell, and Harrison and placed 18th overall in the state.

K: The Hip Hop team also had a solid performance placing higher than any other Springs area team, coming in 10th overall in the state.

B: The wind storm was also a big part of that week before break, as it forced the student body to leave the building early on the day of the storm. Wind speeds reached between 90 and 100 miles per hour and caused a lot of building and vehicle damage. Adam Carlson did a special report on the Rampart storm response the day after it happened.

B: We're glad everyone is safe and no one was hurt during the storm.

K: Ivy Buckley might be a sophomore, but she is already competing at the highest level of the state.

B: She is a member of the RHS diving team and has goals that go all the way to the Olympics. KRAM dived into the story.

Ivy Buckley Profile (state level diver on our diving team)

K: Good luck on the season and your dreams, Ivy.

B: The sister of one of KRAM's own has a thriving local art business.

K: Selena Alvarez is a local deaf artist, and KRAM did a profile on her thanks to her brother, Enrique.

B: Find Selena online to buy her exceptional art.

K: In this season of social distancing, one class is using social media to get closer together.

B: Mrs. Bloeman's senior AVID class created a Tik Tok channel to create a sense of community and belonging.

K: Those are some sweet dance moves and fun moments.

B: Today is the first day of Ramantics performances.

K: The annual talent show and Bald 4 Bucks fundraiser is back after COVID shut it down for a few years.

B: The cast, student directors, and staff supervisors have been hard at work getting the show ready for our community.

Ramantics coverage- Performances are Thursday at 7 PM, Friday at 7 PM, and Saturday at 2 PM and 7 PM. Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for student.

K: Performances are today at 7 PM, tomorrow at 7 PM, and Saturday at 2 PM and 7 PM. Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for students.

B: Thanks for joining us as we start another semester of KRAM production.

K: This is Kenneth Karls,

B: And Blair Snyder, reporting for KRAM. Have a great week, Rams!
