Costume Craze

A Fairy Enchanting Time. On the Thursday before Halloween, students wear their costumes to school for a dollar. Grace Parker got in the holiday spirit as a pirate and Jacob Sayre went as the Pixie Hollow fairies with his friends. He recalled, "That was the first time I dressed up with friends, it was really fun." Brendan Stonecypher, Sophia Krout, Alexandra Walker, Anna Cort, and Ashton Lieser went as the Breakfast Club, while Avery Linton and Damian Robinson unintentionally matched costumes as Beetlejuice.

Celebration Nation. The Halloween season comes to an end with students enjoying Halloween parties together. Helen Stegner, who hosted a party with Amelia Allison commented, "I had a bunch of people over. I haven't been able to do a bunch of stuff with people recently so it was really fun to hang out with people again." Mia Kelso, who went trick-or-treating with her friends, said, "We got a ton of candy because there wasn't many people." Senior Riley Drenth, who also went to a party recalled his favorite part of the night as "watching the first Halloween movie."

Trick or Treat. During Trick or Treat Street, the high school opens its doors to young students for a night of miniature games and events hosted by various clubs. "My favorite part was talking to all of the kids about Halloween and what they were dressed up for. Everyone was really excited to make cookies and make slime which made the whole event fun. It was just really fun to ask all of the kids things like what they were dressed up as and what their favorite candy was," Noah Douglas commented. Devan Bagley, Ben Braecklein, JuliAhna Williams, Laura Kohler, Alton Peacey, and Evaleigh Buckner also helped their clubs to entertain for the night.

Chill in the Air. Days before Halloween, students celebrate with an outdoor, late-night showing of Coraline and The Conjuring. "It was very fun," Mackenzie Estep commented. "It was great to be able to hang out with my friends and enjoy the night, even if it was freezing cold." Mackenzie hugs it out with Jessie Schaffer at the movie night. Also enjoying these movies together were Payton Stevens and Anna Sapron.
