1. fantastically fluent. Ethan Rogers(12) and Ian Babcock (11) excitedly performed a skit they crafted in Spanish for their AP Spanish class. "The best thing about AP Spanish is definitely the conversation. The whole class is conducted in Spanish and it really helps you learn the language and make speaking and doing orals so much easier," shared Rogers. photo by olivia maddox. 2. practice makes progress. Trevor Metz(12) and Oliver Garnica(12) quickly glanced over their notes as they prepared to present their skit. "I really enjoy AP Spanish 5 because of how immersive it is. All the class is instructed in Spanish and it has really improved my conversation skills," said Metz. photo by olivia maddox. 3. language laughs! Georgia Reed(12) and Gwenyth FitzSimmons(12) eagerly awaited their turn to present their personalized skit for the class. "I enjoy it because it is a really fun class environment. We do something new every day and I feel like we learn by doing, which has been really helpful," Reed proclaimed. photo by olivia maddox

4. mano a mano. As they shot their hands up, Howard Marshall(12) and Russell Watson (12) inquired about their classmates skits. "We get to research and present our arguments to opposing sides which has helped the class with reading, writing, and speaking all in one," reflected Watson. photo by olivia maddox 5. friendly phonetics! Wynn Smith (10) was invested in watching the class perform their custom skits. "I really like that we get a lot of practical experience speaking in Spanish, and that we get to do fun things while we practice. I also like learning Spanish because it lets you communicate with so many people you wouldn't have otherwise" Smith exclaimed. photo by olivia maddox 6. AP-preciating diversity. Megan Montgomery(12) enhanced her movement as she progressed deeper into her skit. "I think that AP Spanish 5 has been really fun because it is more of an open conversation rather than learning about grammar and technique. We have more space to do what we want and experiment with the language," replied Montgomery. photo by olivia maddox

STUDENTS PERFECT SPANISH SPEAKING SKILLS IN CREATIVE WAYS

Students in AP Spanish 5 practiced the accumulation of everything they've learned throughout their years of learning Spanish at Littleton. From the bell that started class, the students knew that they would be presenting their skits which they had prepared beforehand. Each skit was completely unique and inspired from a list of vocabulary words exhibiting a range of emotions. From arguments to comedy, everyone brought their own style to the assignment. "Our skit was about trying to cross a bridge that a troll was protecting. We acquired the inspiration from the Three Billy Goats Gruff, a story about goats trying to cross a bridge by completing a riddle!" Oliver Garnica (12) explained when asked about his skit. Seeing the end of their Littleton career, upperclassmen reflected on what they had achieved and learned in the foreign language department. "I liked the fact that I can get more fluent and comfortable using the language. I'm able to talk and connect with people more which is a really good skill to have," Howard Marshall (12) shared. Truly, you didn't have to search far to find a rewarding foreign language experience here at Littleton.

Embracing the thrill of learning from different communities around the world, IB French 4 spent the year diving into France from all angles. Brought together through the enamor of the country and the wonders of celebrating national diversity, each class added to a growing understanding of the significance of connecting to the ever-growing world. Senior Erika Steinhart recalled, "I've been in French all five years I've been at Littleton and I've loved every second of it! It's been really beneficial for me to be able to verbally practice with other students." photos by kaiden hamilton and olivia maddox
