

TOGETHER

we are MANY

"The Athletic community gave me new friendships and connections I never thought I'd be friends with."
 -Braydon Dunne (10)

We were brought together under one roof; from all different backgrounds and walks of life. Choosing to connect and celebrate our individuality, rather than letting it divide us.

We were changed through our own experiences, isolated yet together.

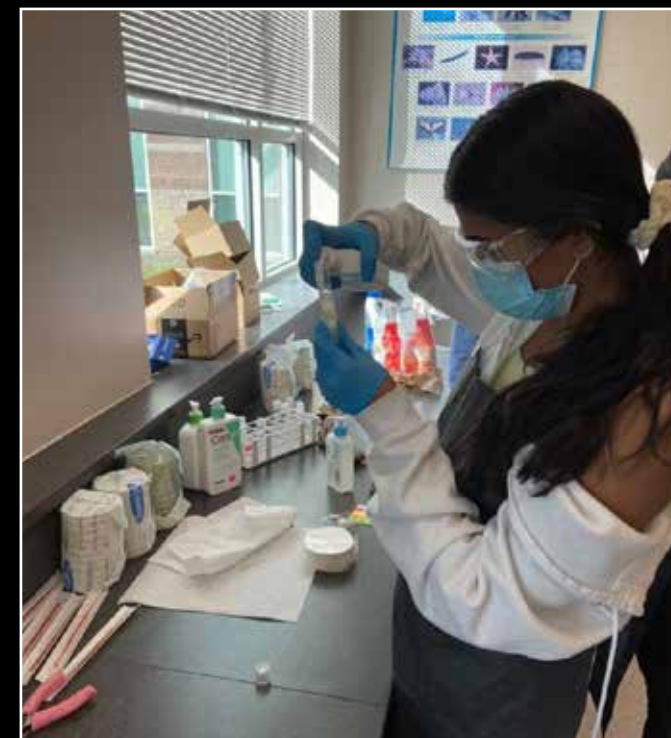

When times got tough, we turned to one another for comfort, looking to our community for support.

We walked alongside each other, through the doors, the hallways, the sidewalks, and the parking lots.

We found ourselves, back in the main gym, cheering loud for Arianna's wish.

Our adversity knew no bounds, as it turned set backs into growth, and differences into connections.

As many, we found our voices alongside each other, standing together and united.

Cougar Roar Representing during the spirit bus, school spirit was spread to many feeder schools. "I think that it inspires younger kids to want to get involved with CT in the future," McKenna Mazeski (11) said. Students ensured that classes to come were excited to be cougars. Photo by A. Cobb

Under One Flag Decked out for the Veteran's Appreciation football game Landen Sutterby (12) enjoyed the school spirit. "It was fun to be a part of something with everyone, and it was cool to see everyone dressed up," Sutterby said. Students went big in red, white, and blue. Photo by A. Cobb

Top of the World Chase Titus (12) watched the crowd from on top of shoulders. "It just kind of worked and it was awesome to bring up the hype," Titus said. The senior kept the spirit wild and cheers loud like the roller coaster he imitated as students attended football games. Photo By J. Demyanovich

Peace and Love Encouraging athletics was vital. "It is a really happy feeling, I enjoyed every minute of it," Dean Tornerud (12) said. Students supported their community. Photo by J. Demyanovich

Band Together Band gave students a home. "CT band surrounded me with so many fun people and things that I love," David Guy (10) said. Band helped students feel connected. Photo By J. Demyanovich

Flexing School Spirit The cougar mascot, showed up for big games and school events. "For me, being the mascot was something I've wanted to do since freshman year, I always thought it was a senior who loves the school," Corey Benton (12) said. Felix was a way to get people excited to show spirit. Photo by A. Cobb

Careful Measurements In the IB biology classroom, Diya Bhatnagar (12) measured carefully. "There are many benefits involved with IB but again community and being with the same people for my classes gave me a sense of belonging," Bhatnagar said. Dedication was needed for IB. Photo courtesy of B. Robinson

Stay CHEERful Being a part of the community was an opportunity to be kind. Megan Redunski (12) reminded future pommies to "remain happy and humble, this sport is full of hard times but when you give it your all, the work is worth it!" Good attitude and school pride went hand in hand. Photo by A.Cobb
