

COUNSELORS & kinda unique SECRETARIES

At Alamosa High School, nothing would get done without the work of our office secretaries and counselors. Students will always be greeted with a friendly face whenever walking into the athletic office, main office, or counseling office. If a student ever needs anything, these people are the ones to go to. From Ms. Connie in the athletic office to Mrs. Miller in the counseling office, from our two amazing counselors, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Anderson, and our MTSS coordinator Miss Garcia, and Mr. Hays and Mrs. Higareda in the main office, working for the good of the students is their number one priority. Students can always count on some of these staff members to listen to them when they need to be listened to and help each student so that they can be successful in the AHS community. If any student has any questions about clubs or athletics, they can count on Connie in the athletic office to help them figure out where they belong. Wherever you go at Alamosa high School, you will always find whatever it is that you need from any of these amazing staff members. Students can count on these people to always be there and always willing to help students so that we can all excel in school. The counselors are there to help students with their schedules and class requirements. If you need help signing up for dual enrollment classes or just regular classes, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Morgan are always there to help students so that they can take all the classes that they need. All of these people are important to the sustainability of Alamosa High School, and this makes them unique in their own way in this school. With such a diverse student population, we are very lucky to have all of these people her to make sure that every student succeeds.

A WARM WELCOME

In the main office, Mrs. Higareda is always there to help out students and parents with whatever they need. Greeting you with warm smiles, she is always willing to help students and their parents so that they can find whatever it is that they need.

What makes your job kinda unique? What makes our school kinda unique?

"My job is unique because it is specialized to Athletics and Activities. It is the extra activities, sports and clubs that make school fun. Our school is unique in that we offer ten girls sports, nine boys sports and 17 clubs that students can join and be a part of. The Athletic/ Activities office is where the fun is at!"

"My job is unique and interesting because every day is different. I get to help parents and students in both Spanish and English. I always want everyone to feel welcomed including our Kanjobal speaking parents. A big part of Alamosa Schools is our diversity in cultures and backgrounds, everyone brings a different aspect to our school."

"I think my job is unique because I get to do so many different things. I get to talk to kids about high school, college and life on a daily basis. I also get to do things like the master schedule and help the counselors figure out classes and what works best for our 600+ student population. I really work with some amazing people! AHS is unique because its very diverse. It's interesting to see all the different cultures and interests our student have."

"What makes my job unique is being able to play a huge part in keeping teachers, staff, and visitors safe. I like that I have the opportunity to try my best to ensure our parents and visitors have a pleasant experience when they come to AHS. What makes our school unique is all of the different extracurricular activities offered at AHS, there are lots of opportunities for students to get involved in a club or activity that interests them and I think that's awesome!"
