

On October 25, 2021, the Arapahoe Singers and Choralettes united with the Colorado All Saints Chorale to promote suicide awareness and prevention at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church. A concert 2 years in the making, students were excited to have this opportunity as many of them have been affected by suicide. "This was a really great opportunity for me as a teacher to talk with my students about some of the things that they'd experienced, and to get students' input on how we could use our art form to bring a powerful statement of positivity and support into a community that was really hurting," KIRK SCHJODT, PERFORMING ARTS DEPT. said. Filling the sanctuary pew to pew, the concert was a success. Mental health is an important issue to students and staff, and these performers hope to continue spreading awareness in the future.
