

PADDLING TO WIN THE RACE, WILLIAM PERETTI, 11, floats in his own handmade boat made with cardboard and duct tape for a physics project. Groups of students built the boats the week before and held a competition in the pool during Tribe. "I think it's a really accurate representation of a real life application of physics. It encourages you into getting more involved," Peretti said. Photo by A. Peterlin.