

CLASS OF 2025

1. MORE THAN A CLASS: According to Addison Ness '25, art is more than a paint brush and paint, it's a way to engage with friends and have fun at school. To tell a story through art and imagery was an assignment that Ness worked on. "It was basically like I had to tell a story throughout one picture. Hanging out with friends and being able to have fun in a class makes the class fun," Ness said. 2. LISTEN UP: During fourth in the Sabercave, student Kaitlyn Michealis '25 listens and takes notes of what life is like as a refugee coming into the United States, Oct. 12. As the presenters talk about how they settle refugees and the processes they go through to set up a life for them in Colorado, they proactively provide help to an incoming family. "I think that it was really interesting that during the presentation, they were also helping a family get settled in at the same time and figuring everything out," Michealis said.

3. BRINGING MUSIC TO LIFE: After-school musical rehearsals have Luke Rust '24 happy yet full of stress. The spring musical Guys and Dolls is a musical that Rust participated in about a group of men and women trying to run an underground game. "Rehearsal is fun and stressful. I enjoy doing it but remembering and practicing can be hard sometimes. I participate because I like to sing and act. I think it is very fun," Rust said.
