

declaring a winner

WHO THE STUDENTS WANT TO WIN THE SUPER BOWL

The Super Bowl is the most-watched sporting event in America, according to Bleacher Report. Each year, the best teams in the National Football League (NFL) all play to find out who is the champion. The four teams that made it to the Conference Championships were the Kansas City Chiefs, Cincinnati Bengals, Philadelphia Eagles and San Francisco 49ers.

According to a survey of 162 CV students, the team most predicted to win was the Kansas City Chiefs, getting 52 votes. The second favorite were the Cincinnati Bengals with 47 votes. 39 people voted for the San Francisco 49ers and, finally, 24 voted for the Philadelphia Eagles.

The two teams that competed in the 2023 Super Bowl were the Kansas City Chiefs and the Philadelphia Eagles. According to One37PM, the Chiefs are in the top ten teams with the most previous Super Bowl wins. They have won the Super Bowl twice before, once in 1969 against the Minnesota Vikings and the next time in 2019 against the San Francisco 49ers. In the previous survey, the least popular team people thought would win were the Philadelphia Eagles. As of Feb. 12, the Kansas City Chiefs are the Super Bowl LVII champions.

This chart represents 162 students and their thoughts on who they wanted to win the Super Bowl. Out of those students 52 had chosen Kansas City Chiefs, 47 students wanted the Cincinnati Bengals, 24 wanted the Philadelphia Eagles, and 39 wanted the San Francisco 49ers. These students could have bias on their favorite team but the overall chart favored the Chiefs as the overall favorite.

written by Charles Colombi & Satori McCormick and graphic by Macy Key

SHIFTING SCHEDULE

STUDENTS DRAWBACK ON SCHEDULE CHANGES

As many may know and are experiencing, next year's schedule is going to look different. This is not only going to make school days look different, but it is doubling the amount of classes students will have at one time. For many students the change has been very stressful when it comes to registering for new classes, as well as struggling on what classes to pick. As a new schedule near, the stress is impacting many individuals like sophomore Kentley Chavira.

"The new schedule is going to come with a lot of stress because having more classes means having double the work we have had the past two years," Chavira said.

Many students are stressed about the new schedule, mainly because they haven't had to deal with this change before. Sophomore Emma King shared the impact it had on her.

"I had to do some maneuvering with my courses I picked to make sure I got enough credits, which means I had to switch all the classes up I had wanted and planned to take," King said.

Numerous students have struggled moving around and changing the classes that they had planned to take. King believes the change is not beneficial for the school.

"That would depend on the grade level you are. For some juniors it is going to be hard for them to get all their credits in before they graduate. But as a sophomore it is stressful, but not as difficult as it is for the upperclassmen. For me personally, I am worried about how we are going to get all our credits done but we will figure it out," King said.

The new schedule is bringing stress to students. For most, this is going to look different from our "normal" schedule that Sabercats have always experienced.

“The new schedule is going to come with a lot of stress because having more classes means having double the work we have had the past two years.”

written by Meghan Winston