

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

NEW EXPERIENCES

The FFA group comes together in front of a replica of the St Louis Arch in Illinois.

TAKE A PIC

Visiting the National Western Stock Show, FFA students get to enjoy extra activities like attending an Avalanche game and going to Top Golf.

A GREAT BUNCH

FFA students pose in front of the Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis, Indiana on an FFA field trip.

At Alamosa High School, clubs and events are so important. In the agricultural class, Future Farmers of America (FFA), there are a variety of students who are passionate about agriculture and the tasks and needs that come along with it. Every year, they engage in different events and occasions to represent themselves. The group helps to enhance a student's career path and helps them to figure out their goals for the future. The club and class is run by Mr. Tedford and Mr. Martinez. These two work together to help students participate in hands-on activities with plants, animals, and more! The FFA President is Kamrin McGraw, Vice President is Jordyn Pacheco, Secretary is Desirae Lopez, Treasurer is Makaila Lambert, Reporter is Perry DiCamillo, and Setenal is Malachi Shown. It is almost guaranteed that each and every one of these students will go play a huge role in the future of agriculture and farming.
