

“It felt so good to be a role model for all of the younger dancers, and have them look up to you.”
Luca
 LeMonds, 12

1. Role Model Lucy LeMonds 11, helps lead the poms minis during halftime at the game against Fountain Fort-Carson on Oct. 8. “It was such an amazing experience to help out the younger girls,” LeMonds said, photo by addie solomon 2. Getting Loud Hying up his teammates before the rivalry game against Ponderosa on Sept. 19, Juju Castro, 11, gets loud. “I always get loud before every game and celebrate everything,” Castro said, photo by addie solomon

Maybe you think you know what it feels like to attend school here. It's just a high school, right? But if you haven't been here, you don't really get it. Why? Because we are the Titans who watched Mr. Jacob make snow angels at the Pomona football game.

We are the Titans who had sold out shows for Mamma Mia, the spring musical. We are one student body, one school, one community.

005
Because we are legend opera

Because we are legend