Take another look
At the painted parking spots
A symbol of the last marks our seniors will leave on the school.
Walk through the open doors
To see welcoming smirk from Mrs. Angie
As she feeds the frogs on her front desk.
Hear Emilee Harding and Sonia Mathai chirp their call of
'Welcome to the Jungle, Jags!'
They helped you start the day off strong with a laugh.

Look closer at the Homecoming Parade
Tossing candy to Woodrow's middle schoolers.
Fall Fest followed right after,
Carolyn Ennis put in the time painting faces and taking names.
Do you recall DJ CJ Snazzy cranking tunes at Homecoming
While students played cards inside?
Everyone enjoyed each game,
Each laugh,
Each shoe given up for pursuit of the dance floor.

Look again at our first softball and boys volleyball teams,
Our first orchestra,
Our first trip to Spain.

Look again at the new library, new classes, new experiences
As we say goodbye to Ms. Grantham and the class of 2023
And welcome who comes next with open arms.

Look into the spirit of JA
Each club meeting and event,
Each practice, game and meet,
You can clearly see the dedication and passion.

Take another look,
Come even closer,
And see everything that we have achieved:
How we stressed over finals,
Laughed with our friends at assemblies
And shared each distinct JA experience.

After examining each story from the year
You can realize that we all have a story to tell
You just have to take another look.
