

INDESCRIBABLE

AHS STUDENTS can always be found out and about. These students spend their free time on things most people would never even think of. The beautiful minds of AHS take us to unexpected places. The dictionary defines the word describe as this: to give an account in words of someone or something, including all relevant characteristics, or qualities. But when watching the students of AHS, there are so many relevant characteristics and qualities. There are hundreds incredible qualities unique to each student, team, and activity that make them what they are. This brings people to a loss of words when any attempt is made to describe these students. They simply cannot be grouped into a descriptive phrase when they are so clearly more than that. The story of these students would be hundreds of pages long, and we would not want it any other way.
