

Do you feel like you know our story? Maybe because we are the school where senior Miles Loftin, senior Sonia Mali, and junior Norah Segrist were selected to be in the Colorado AllState Choir. Maybe because we are the talent show where freshman Ava Arguello blew us all away with her singing. Maybe because senior Siena Rojas is going to Stanford and was the Daniel's Fund recipient, one of out of 100 Colorado students.

But maybe you feel like you know us because you've heard so many things about us. Maybe because you feel like you know our story. But you don't.

"The coaches have been such great role models through out my life."

Gavin Taylor, 12

1. That's a Wrap Hugging his coach, Gavin Taylor, 12, walks across the field during senior night. "I have grown up with all of these kids, and gotten close with the coaches," Taylor said.

2. All Smiles Poms dancer, Abby Palmer, 12, celebrates with a mini pom after a halftime performance. 4. All in For Andrew Wish kid, Andrew, high fives the student section during the honorary basketball game on Feb 4, photos by addie solomon

3. Show Your Spirit After winning the spirit points at the homecoming assembly, Nick Muniz, 12, celebrates with his senior class. "It's fun being a senior because everyone gets really loud," Muniz said. photo by addie solomon

Because we are memories