CHANGE IN COMMAND

OLD TRADITIONS CONTINUED BY A NEW BAND DIRECTOR

The smell of grated Parmesan cheese, garlic bread, and pasta wafts in harmony through the cafeteria air; what's in there? Brass, woodwinds, and percussion! The bands converge during the first band concert of the year: Carrabba's Night.

Coronado's Band Program is in its first year of change in many. Drum Roll please... new director: Mrs. Kimberley Kincaid!

Though she is definitely not new to teaching and directing, Mrs. Kincaid is new to Coronado and has a lot on her plate. According to Kincaid, she is dedicated to "teaching the science of music- not just the mathematics of music and expression of music." She strives to teach more music theory in her band classes.

Mrs. Kincaid has taught for 30 years in many states like Florida, Texas, Washington, Alabama, and even taught in Japan! Teaching high schoolers has always been her desired career path. "Working with young adults is truly amazing," Kincaid says.

She wants to "steer students to a lifelong love of music" and double the band rosters in the next three years.

Joining Coronado after teaching most recently at Mann Middle School, some students knew Kincaid before CHS, even as far back as 4th grade. Joshua Briley, Jr., had Mrs. Kincaid in middle school and loves working with her. "Kincaid is a good teacher. Sometimes she can get on you, but I think that's why we're good. She brings good energy to the band," Joshua Briley says.

"Mrs. Kincaid works hard to make the band program feel more like a tight-knit family this year and I wish I could stick around to see what the program will become in the few years as Kincaid settles in," Wren Fortier, Sr., drum major and TA reflected.

Mrs. Kincaid hopes to create a well-rounded band, but that doesn't mean out with the old and in with the new. Mrs. Kincaid is excited to blend Coronado's traditions -like Italian food and jazz music- with new innovations to make harmony in an already "grate" band.
