

SANDWICHED. In a hard fought game against Steamboat High School, many players on both teams were on the ground fighting for the ball. Peter Boyd gets sandwiched between two players then wins the ball back to carries it up the field.

WORTH IT. When games get aggressive the boys lacrosse team throw themselves for every ball. Putting passion and work into every play, Owen Taylor holds onto the ball while getting bodied by a VMS player. Keeping possession of the ball and continuing to play the game to win the hard fought game against Vail Mountain School.

Hard Work and Working Hard

Spring sports are not easy, especially strictly outdoor sports like lacrosse. Playing everyday in freezing weather, snow, rain, and more. This can take a toll on athletes both mentally and physically but the boys EVHS lacrosse team pushes through and works hard everyday to become the best they can. Sharing the stadium field and the complex fields with both girls soccer and girls lacrosse boys lacrosse has to train on the upper fields almost everyday. Running up the steep hill to then continue to run when they reach the top is hard work. The boys team trains everyday without fail and their trainings include lots of cardio, strength and condition. Games are so cold you can see your own breath and these players still manage to bring in a crowd. The EVHS student body loves watching and supporting this team and will attend games no matter the circumstances. Both the JV and Varsity team are lead by great captains who have created a community within the lacrosse team where everyone supports everyone.

NEW BEGINNINGS. Junior Peter Boyd one of the leading scorers this season said, "This seasons been a lot of fun, a bunch of new traditions being created between the players and the bonds between us players is amazing."

TOP NOTCH. During a game against Steamboat, Ian Bibler forces a turn over giving EVHS the ball to work up the field. Ian said, "My favorite memory about this years season was coach telling us about the 3 G's, ground balls, goals, and girls."
