Varsity Baseball

How have you made your mark?

"I think most of it is the facts that we have expectations so we have some nonnegotiable in our program and a lot of it has to do with being good individuals and a good person rather than just a good baseball player."

-Coach Steven Reiher

"A lot of it is just preparation- taking pride and winning and taking pride in having kids be successful that you have put time into. You see talent in kids and their abilities. You invest in them and hopefully see the payout. I think the more you do that, invest in the kids in a true way then you will see success weather you win games or not but you still see some success."

-Coach Paul Shean

"Definitely contributing through base hits and just being there at practice and being a good teammate."

-Luke Gastineau '23

"Since freshman year I started on varsity and ever since then the coaches have expected me to show the team that they can do better and they can preform to their best ability if I help show them that they can improve on their work."

-Braeden Sprout '23

"I've been willing to do whatever it takes to help the team like selling jerky to raise money for the team."

-Chaz Wilks '23

"I've been doing a lot of fundraisers like the jerky sales. We've also been doing a lot of work days cleaning up the field and different things like that."

-Jacob Hancock '23

"I changed my position junior year to become a PO to make a bigger impact on the team."

-Donavan Raley '23

"Yes, I would say decently. I would just say by working hard and playing a bunch of different spot and being the utility player. It's allowed me to help the team out a lot different ways."

-Konner Workman

"I didn't really play very much last year. I think I'm starting at first base and my hitting should be better than last year which would be really good. I hope to hit a couple home runs and really make my mark in the program."

-Ripp Lockhart '25

Clayton Cryer tries to catch the ball.

Lance Porter goes to catch a ground ball.

Landon Kennel gets in position to pitch the ball.

Brett Lahoe goes up to bat.

Whoa Clayton Cryer and Chaz Wilks in a pickle. "We were in a pickle and I had to avoid the tag," said Wilks. "It is a drill that we've ran a couple time so at first I wasn't thinking anything of it when he was running at me. I thought he was just gonna give himself up, but he did not slow down and then he just tried going under me. Chaz tried to do like a ninja roll under me, but it caught me off guard and just last second I decided to try and hop over him," said Cryer.

Konner Workmen tags Logan Clay out while doing base running.

Chaz Wilks slides into third base while Braeden Sprout tries to tag Wilks out.

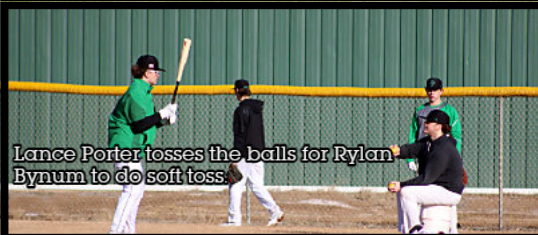

Coach Reiher, Coach Workman, and Coach Shean talk during warm ups.

Joseph Black, Landon Kennel, Jacob Hancock and Braeden Sprout watch as they do pickle drills.

Braeden Sprout, Joseph Black, Luke Gastineau and Landon Kennel clean up extra dirt by home plate.

Lance Porter tosses the balls for Rylan Bynum to do soft toss.

Everyone huddles around Coach Reiher before they start I.O.
