

Making History. The volleyball team smashes school records for most games won, most match assists, and most match kills. The Jags were also ranked 2nd in the league, which allowed them to host regionals for the first time. LiLi Foss, who made the 3A all-state team after regionals, was especially excited for the chance to host. "I am so pumped," she exclaimed. "JA has never hosted regionals before or been in the top 10, so this team has definitely just blown my mind." The chance to host proved how far the team has come and showed that they can take the hits. Monica Slusser believed that regionals was the time the team got it all together. "I think it's paying off and showing that all of our hard work is finally picking up together," Monica described. The varsity team of 2022 is one that will go down in history.

no i in Team

Teamwork Makes the Dream Work. The coaches have put together a few team bonding activities, including attending college volleyball games and making tie-dye shirts. A puppy was also brought for the team members to play with. The JV team took an afternoon to visit Colorado School of Mines to see the college team play. Ali Smith exclaimed, "It was really fun! We got dinner together and then we watched the game. The energy there was really exciting 'cause it was a really good game!" Emma Tomasko said she "really enjoyed the Mines game. It really inspired me to become a better volleyball player." Her teammate, Valyn Highley shared, "I felt closer with my team this year than any past year. Everyone was so sweet and we worked so well together. I think we had amazing chemistry, which helped us win our hardest games while making lasting friends."

New Students, New Opportunities, New Teammates

"I improved this season by being able to now hit the ball and it's not going everywhere. I really like my team too! They're all very supportive."
Ella Fleming

It felt good to be on a team and make it.

I didn't think I would make a team but I'm glad that I did.

"I liked being on C team, but I'm going to try out next year and hopefully will make JV. Over the off season I will work on hitting, passing, and setting and I might go to the weight room to prepare for next year."
Sofia Garioto

It was a good team bonding experience.

Dig Pink

The volleyball team hosts games that are dedicated specifically to supporting breast cancer awareness. Every one of the players designed new pink warm-up shirts to wear before the games and when game time came, they put on pink socks and ribbons. Jessie Schaffer reflected on the dominating night with wins for all three teams and exclaimed, "I think the team supported the cause well because we all put a lot of effort into wearing lots of pink!" All proceeds from the game went towards breast cancer research.
