"Something I am passionate about is my future. Like I have a lot of goals for my future, and I kind of keep it secret sometimes, just like knowing I can do this. I want to be the best version of myself, and show people that I can do it, and push myself to new limits. Just in life, in being successful. Success to me is to live my life the way I want to live it. Doing what I most enjoy, surrounded by people who I admire and respect while always remembering to help others every chance I can."

"I am passionate about my faith and experience times of happiness on vacation because I am so thankful to be wherever I am. I am also passionate about bringing light to others and I try my best to be nice to everyone because I feel that that is what I am called to do as a Christian. My mom always tells me to shine my light. I think it is important to love everybody. I try to be kind to everybody and not judge them, I do this to try and show God's love for people. I want to make a positive impact and inspire others to be the best person that they can be."

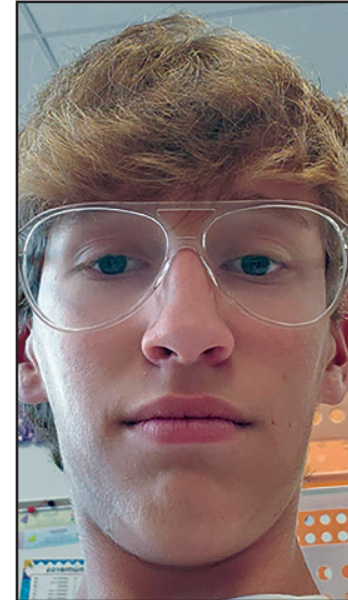

"Starting the first year of highschool was difficult to overcome. I learned to overcome it by going one day at a time and just getting all of my work done. Just going with the flow. By going outside, sometimes after lunch I will just walk around the building and just enjoy nature. It helps me be by myself before another 3 hours of school work. Something that I'm passionate about is that even though sometimes things are going on, I just try to pull through it and have a smile on myself. Either my mom or grandma tell me to just do it. Just take your time on things and take things slowly."

"My dad always preached hard work so I always think to work hard in everything that I do. I definitely see this the most throughout sports and school because I always feel that there is room to get better no matter how good or bad I am at something. I always try to be nice to people and just work hard in everything that I do. I just want everyone to be happy and I want to have a positive impact on everyone that I come across. I love being able to hang out with friends and that is where I find myself the most happy. I like being able to go out with them or even just hang out at someone's house."

"I am most happy when I am on stage, performing music gives me the most exhilarating feeling in the world. Music has been my main source of happiness for 13 years of my life. About eight months ago I joined School Of Rock, where I joined the performance groups open to everyone. I just got accepted into their only audition band as one of the lead vocalists after a challenging audition. I have written many songs of my own and will continue to do this until I run out of words to write. I want to make music for the world to hear because that is my true passion in life. I want people to be able to relate to my music and I want to make something that everyone can listen to."

"The most difficult thing I've had to overcome is the death of my grandfather. I just spent time with my family and tried to remember that even though he's gone, he lives on in our hearts and our memories. My happiness mainly comes from my friends and family because they always really support me, and we always have fun times together. I don't really want to have a big impact. I just want to have friends and family who I care for and who care for me. The future is undecided."

I like preparing for the future and having everything planned out. Something I am really passionate about is helping others because someday in the future I would like to be a nurse so I can help others and make a positive impact in a lot of people's lives. One thing my mom said was if you can't be happy, try to be at peace with yourself. Something difficult for me was coming to Eaton as a transfer student. When you're a transfer student it is difficult to get used to the new school. One impact I want to make on this world is to help people, I just really like helping others in times of need."

"I'm an open book, but I really like furniture and the creativity that comes with it. The creativity that's used to make something like a couch or a table. It's your own thing and I've always thought it's dope. The artist can express themselves with such an ordinary everyday item, it's so cool. I experience times of happiness on my computer when I make things that I think are cool. I like to be creative with it. I enjoy making it more than showing it off, and it allows me to be creative. There's also Fortnite on my computer. I want to leave a positive impact on the world and tell people to be unique and not care what others think."

"I experience times of happiness with my kids, on vacation because I like to go places. I have three kids, a junior and two eighth graders. They're fun and I like to take them places. They are a big source of happiness. Next month we are going to go see the eclipse in Texas, so seeing different things, going different places, and teaching them different things bonds us. They all like science and math so they can be nerdy together. My daughter also does ballet and I work at the dance studio as the costume designer. I spend a lot of time with my daughter because I am there all the time doing all the costumes. I enjoy making something and seeing it on the stage flourish is really fun."

"I experience a time of happiness when working on projects with students and sailing. I enjoy helping and teaching people how to create things on their own and how to find their creative side. I also enjoy sailing and my goal is to live on a sailboat when I retire. The most difficult thing I have experienced was when my wife was diagnosed with cancer 14 years ago. I believe that it is important to have grit and stick it out while having the perspective of wanting to experience more because life is short. I also want to be a father figure to all runners as my old cross country coaches are people that I admire most."
