READY, SET, RACE: As she rounds the corner, Grace Garber '27 has one goal: to beat her best friend in the go-kart race on Aug. 18. Instead of a back to school dance or drive-in movie, Student Government put on a back to school carnival. "I was trying to pass my friends, and go as fast as I can without hitting them," Garber said. "I would do the carnival again next year."

PRECISION IS KEY: All eyes are on Finn Harding '27 as he launches the softball at the button. Harding had two chances to soak the teachers at the dunk tank, but did not succeed. "I tried to not throw the ball too fast," Harding said.

CRAZY COOL CARNIVAL

BACK TO SCHOOL CARNIVAL INVITES STUDENTS AND STAFF TO HAVE FUN

“I LOVED HOW THERE WERE LOTS OF DIFFERENT ACTIVITIES LIKE HAMSTERBALLS AND GO KARTS. I LIKED THAT THERE WAS A LITTLE SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE.”
 MS. AMANDA MALSON

BRACE YOURSELF: The seat underneath her gives way and Ms. Amanda Malson drops into the tank. Malson watched Mr. Ryan Morken get dunked countless times and when it was her turn, she had to prepare for what was about to happen. "Getting dunked in the tank is scary, but the anticipation of getting dunked is way worse," Malson said. "My strategy was to stay on that seat. Morken makes it look so easy to hop up." DOUBLE DUNKED: Mr. Ryan Morken tenses up, anticipating the ball to hit the button. As a teacher volunteer, Morken endured many dunks; shortly after his turn, the line was pushed back to increase the difficulty, making it more challenging for the next set of teachers to be dunked. "We need to get older kids here," Morken said. "There was a lot of freshmen and I don't want to get dunked by freshmen."

"My favorite part of the assembly was the performance. I think having cheer perform is a good way for us to show off what we are working on."

"I think it's great that we have an assembly. It sets a tone for how excited we should be. The senior run was by far my favorite part and I like that it honors us on our last first day of high school."

MEDIA MADNESS MEDIA STUDENTS BUILD COMMUNITY

"I've been in the yearbook for several years now and my favorite part about Media Madness is how well it brings everyone together. At first, CV Media can be very intimidating, but I love how Media Madness creates a space for everyone to get to know each other on a fun and stress-free level. My favorite activity is the water balloon duck duck goose. Most people are very apprehensive about getting wet, but once you do, you end up having so much fun with everyone," Colten Robidoux '24 said.

"It was a really fun and exciting way to start off the year, and I loved getting to meet everyone who joined CV Media. Some of the games were embarrassing, but it was fun to just let your guard down and have fun with friends. Plus, getting to go outside and play with water balloons was pretty sweet. It definitely set the tone for the year," Reese Plummer '24 said.
