

SHOWING UP IN STYLE

How did you choose your spirit day outfit?

I had a lot of fun picking out a cozy outfit for school that day.

MATTHEW XIONG
(12)

photos by ayo roman, quinn medonoid, and elle elrich

The shirts were a hit, so I just bought one on Amazon and wore it to school.

OLIVIA HORNSBY
(9)

My inspiration was the Kardashians. I just gave people a lot of attitude and I made sure my hair was flat and my glasses were big.

MORGAN ERIKSON
(12)

I just saw the legacy pants at King Soopers and thought they were cool and my friend had a matching pairs so we wore them that day.

CHLOE HEAPS (10)

I had an L2K speech the same day so I just wore my speech clothes.

JOSEPH MARTINEZ
(11)

CATCH A HOME

SPIRIT READY

Posing back to back with senior Rory Stuber, senior Alex Jezierski is excited for the homecoming spirit week. "I think it was a fun opportunity to let my school spirit show out my senior year. It's a fun way to let students express themselves and have fun in the classroom," said Jezierski. Spirit week is always a highlight for Jezierski since it makes the school come together to show school pride. photo by tyson marshall

SAY CHEESE

Sophomores Avery Cotten, Emma Wieneke, and Alyssa Knuttson pose for a picture on Tacky Tourist Tuesday during lunch. All the girls had fun dressing up for spirit week every day. "It was fun to collaborate with my friends to do it," Knuttson said. photo by quinn mcdonald

MAKE IT UP

Seniors Milyani Romo and Anastasia Cross apply makeup, for the AI unplugged marching band show after school. Cross hardly dressed up for spirit weeks in her previous school years, but as a senior she decided to go all out. "I dressed up every day just for funzies, I thought I'd actually do spirit week senior year," Cross said. photo by ellie erlich

GOING ALL OUT

On Morning Flight Monday, Spanish teacher Jill Kitzmiller struts her airport gear: her comfy wear and suitcase. Ms. Kitzmiller has become known for going all out on spirit week days, showing up in great outfits for every dress-up day. "I like to be silly and hopefully make things a little more fun during the school day," Kitzmiller said. photo by greta powell

FLIGHT TO

Students and staff showcase their school spirit in anticipation for homecoming at the end of the week

COMING

