What builds a successful scholar? Is it pushing the boundaries of our original outlook on life? Building up a strong connection to your own personal identity? Maybe it is finding your place even when it feels unknown. Being obstinate in your beliefs, but also being open-minded to new ideas. Any Odyssey student can be defined in many ways. But mostly, we learned to rise: rise as individuals and rise unitedly. Despite the ever-growing odds against us, we remembered that we were all capable of brilliant things. To quote Benjamin Franklin, "Tell me and I forget. teach me and I remember. Involve me and I learn." Odyssey did just that.
