Photography Galore

The portrait set up in the Journalism room allowed students to have photos taken in a professional setting. As Journalism students learned, they also helped the Odyssey community.

A Student's portrait is a lot of things. Legal documentation, something to dress up for, the reason you can get into the building, check out a library book, or get lunch. But it's also proof high school changes you. To a lot of people, their senior photo is the last picture of them before they became an adult. As you go on as a student you can look back at how you've grown. Not just one's appearance but the memories the picture brings. All of this from something as simple as sitting on a stool with lights all around as you look down the lens of a camera and remembering.
