1. TROJANS ON THREE. The boys basketball team puts their hands in at the end of practice after preparing for their playoff game. Everyday after practice, the team meets at half court to review practice and game plan for the next game. "We are one big family in this, and we all say love you to one another after the cheer at the end of the huddle" Northouse said. photo by Kana glyn

YOU'LL GET IT.

WE KNOW. IT SEEMS A LITTLE WEIRD AT FIRST.

Spending $20 a week on cookies, freshmen sprinting out the door to be the first in line for the $7 student special at Wing Shack, the business program screen printing our jerseys. MBSA members taking part in internships all over the Front Range—veterinarians, chiropractors, physical therapists, and surgeons—we've done it all. Celebrating wins with Tro! Tro! Tro! chants and a 59 minute Instagram live.

JUST GIVE IT A LITTLE TIME.
YOU'LL FIGURE IT OUT.

1. THE TROJAN WAR. Working alongside his teammates, Grant Cummins (12) pulls the rope during a game of tug-o-war at the pep rally. The football team was the last of the fall sport match ups and consisted of two teams separated by grade. "It was supposed to be seniors and sophomores versus juniors and freshmen, but I recall a lot of the seniors, Hunter Knight and Isaiah Prospero in particular, turning to the other side," Cummins said. photo by Anna Lynn

SO, GO

JUST GO FOR IT.

Rock an all neon fit for spirit day, make valentines in Mrs. Falkenberg's AP Research class, and memorize the Trojan Beat (or look silly trying). You could star in Clue or The Little Mermaid, sweep Centaurus, be featured on one of our 25 different Instagrams, or help NHS host Trick or Treat Street. Thanks to our 123 year history, there's something for everyone here.

1. SING AND SHOUT. Playing his guitar, Brody Mundt (12) and The Blue Shoes perform during halftime of a home football game. Mundt, along with other students in the area, have dedicated themselves to their band for the latter half of their high school careers. "Playing at halftime was really special for me because I got to show the culmination of what I've been doing throughout my entire high school career, and got to present that to a large portion of the student body," Mundt said. photo by Anna Flynn

2. IT'S A BEACH OFF. Paula Garcia Salazar (10) cheers in the middle of the field at the beginning of the homecoming football game. The theme was a Hawaiian out, with the team winning 49-13 after trailing in the 1st. "The energy from the crowd was really good, it's definitely nerve-racking being on the field before but also is so exciting. Our coach helped us pick out Hawaiian outfits before which was very fun," Garcia Salazar said. photo by Anna Flynn

From WEARABLE TECH to LEGO, from VEX to SUMO. When we build it, we bring championship level talent with us. You'll scream along with your class to finish the lyrics and sprint to get the last seat in musical chairs. You'll be nervous for that first APUSH exam and the day you get to dissect an eyeball but you won't be alone. You'll get hyped to BEAT CREEK and spend hours without a voice the next day. You'll volunteer your time with local organizations and make us a Green Star School. Like we said, it might feel overwhelming at first, but we know...

- 1. STUNTIN'. Giovanni Rodriguez Reyes (9) shows off his pink fit during the pink out football game. Every year, there is a pink out in October to support breast cancer awareness and celebrate those who have overcome cancer. "There was really good energy and the game was super fun, I really liked everybody's outfits," Reyes said. photo by maya pears
- 2. PEP ASSEMBLY. Stella Rulon (12) celebrates with her teammates after acing her serve. The girls made regionals after finishing the regular season at 15-8, which was their best showing since the 2018-19 season. "Our team had a lot of seniors, so at first it was kind of tricky figuring out what I needed to do. I think I was a good leader and was supportive and a positive influence for my team," Rulon said. photo by ethan atherton

You get it now, right?

You ran the Trojan Mile, memorized for your IWA presentation, and sang along with Ms. Castro. You packed the stands, competed against other grades in sing-alongs, and watched Drumline compete at Worlds for the third time in four years. You get the way we cheer three times, why we look for Tommy every December morning, and how we all come together for Playoff Clapouts. After all, it's like Coach Johnson says.. Once a Trojan, Always a Trojan, and

1. JUMP IN. Ty Gaddis (9) jumps away from the ball while playing Indiana Jones tag. The yearbook staff played different games in order to learn how to photograph different situations, called Photo Olympics. "I liked this one called Indiana Jones tag because I got to run around and get some exercise at the end of the day when I was pretty tired and the photos came out really cool. My brother Cole also ran it and he's my hero," Gaddis said. photo by Anna glynis

2. TUFF PLAY. Kaitlyn Murphey (11) reacts as Joey Foot (10) jumps to make a catch for a first down. The football team never trailed and ended with a score of 35-6 against rival Silver Creek. "I'm just a loud person in general, so I just like cheering for something and so when something good happens in a football game I love it," Murphey said. photo by Anna glynis

3. PLAYING WITH COLORS. Mary Jane Cronin (11) hits her mark at the conclusion of the Drumline show. The Drumline recieved a score of 84,150, beating out scores from 19 different schools to win the competition. "I love the combination of the colors and the movement and different feels and instrumentation between the pieces." Cronin said. photo by Anna glynis

1. THROW IT UP. Jordan Johnson (12), Addyson Moll (12) and Zoe Campion (12) throw baby powder into the air after the first touchdown against Skyline. The football team beat Skyline 48-6, scoring 28 unanswered points in the first half. "I really like being a fangirl because its just a reason to get to cheer with your friends and it's a lot of fun because a lot of the people on the team we're friends with. Skyline and Silver Creek are also two of the most fun games because they're rivalries so you just get more into it," Johnson said. photo by hana glyn
