

NEXT BIG LEAP Freshman Hayden Beckwith embraces his new school setting with fellow members of the freshman class. Pack Day introduced the new class into their home for the next four years, a very prominent change. "Things shouldn't always stay the same. Change is great. Humans need change," Beckwith said. photo by s. smith

Goodbyes. So many heartfelt goodbyes. Goodbyes from the senior class and goodbyes from SIX teachers. A new record takes the lead. A winding new road awaits them all.

Tears for math magician Carissa Maseberg and science guru Louie King. Tears for history buff Jackalyn Barnes. Red-rimmed eyes for days from sad football players losing their beloved Coach Shipley. Tears and best wishes for English whiz Mrs. Fortik, and lots for musical genius Sean Cartner. So many teachers moving forward. Who would have thought the senior class would share the same experience? Maybe senior Lily Louzon. Starting a business in the upcoming future. Or senior Rozilynn Roberson up in Northwest Washington working full time and following a dream of teaching. Or even senior Eva Carreon! Pursuing a cosmetology license. A brand new adventure!

A year of juggled schedules. Of lab and loop mishaps. Halls of sleepy students despite the extra hour. Would someone just tell them to get to sleep earlier? They didn't seem to listen the first time! A year full of perseverance. A year full of change.

We told them to bring it, and they did.

We told them we could handle it, and we did.

This year, we

THE CHANGE
