

YOU ARE ONE PERSON IN A MASS OF 1,876 PEOPLE

Just one voice, one personality, one student.
But don't let anyone tell you that's insignificant.

You leave an impact on everything you touch.

KIND OF COOL, RIGHT?

That club you're in, isn't just any club, it's your club.

You know, the one you started sophomore year that

JUST KEEPS GETTING BIGGER.

You don't just bring athletic ability and artistic talent.

THIS IS LARGER THAN THAT.

You bring your personality, your experiences, and your decisions.

YOU FOLLOW YOUR PASSION.

NOT THE PACK.

You're the one who makes your peers and teachers smile.

You're the one calling MR. HESS 'THE GRAND POOBAH' IN AP ECONOMICS and pulling out all the stops for holiday door decorating.

1. PERFORMING WITH THE VARSITY CHEER TEAM AT THE WINTER ASSEMBLY, PAIGE COWLES, 12, holds a spirit sign. The cheer team performed their nationals routine on the gym floor as practice before the official competition. "I love being able to show people what we work on at practices that they don't see from us just cheering at the sidelines at games. Performing in front of my peers is such a nerve wracking yet exciting experience and it is definitely something I am going to miss next year." Cowles said. Photo by A. Pfanstiel.
3. CHEERING ALONG WITH THE CROWD, RYDER MORRISON, 09, AND JAMES DONAHUE, 10, stand in the bed of a pickup truck during the homecoming parade. Clubs and athletic teams decorated floats and rode them through the Streets of Southglenn the morning before the homecoming dance. Photo by M. Watts.

So what if you had to get up ten whole minutes earlier to make it to school? You still take the time to walk laps around the school with your friends.

What was it that they told you freshman year? The school is just like a ladder? DO YOU BELIEVE THAT?

SO BRING ALL THAT YOU HAVE.

Those 1:00 am study nights so you can ace your APUSH exam and your chem test.
That story you just know will cheer up the whole lunch table.
That big idea that will impress your whole English 12 class.

YOU DON'T HOLD BACK

BECAUSE HERE, WE SEE HOW

YOU BRING YOU

THEME
You 003

WE ARE A BODY OF 1,876 PEOPLE, A MASS OF PERSONALITIES AND DIFFERENT OPINIONS.

YEAH,

each and every one of us is different.
Introvert or extrovert.
Curious or cautious.
Messy or organized.

But we always take care of one another.

BECAUSE WE KNOW THAT WE'RE STRONGER AS WE.

We are winning football games against our rivals to earn the milk jug.

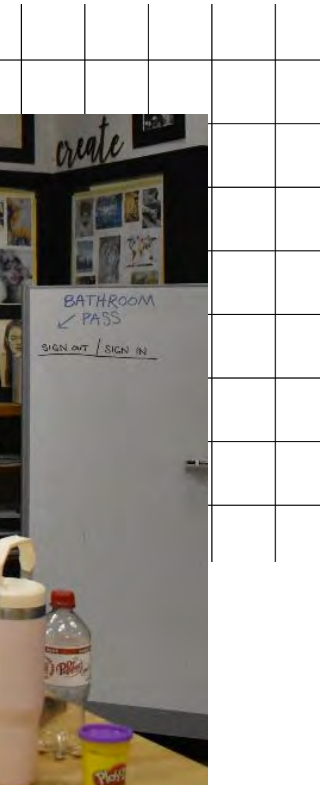

WHAT'S THAT LITTLE SISTER?

YEAH, WE BEAT YOU IN BASKETBALL TOO.

YOU HAVE A BIG IDEA? WE'RE ALL EARS.

We're creating clubs for good.
We're joining Action Against Cancer Club and Latino Student Alliance at Club Cafe. We're showing everyone that Trick-or-Treat Street is bigger than handing out candy.

DO YOU FEEL THAT? WE DO.

It's the feeling of looking out into a crowd and seeing nothing but black and old gold. (And some white overalls, of course.) It's the realization that out of every person in the entire world, we're the only people who get to say that we are a part of this community.

WHAT WE'RE REALLY TRYING TO SAY IS, WHEN

YOU BRING YOU

WE BRING US

1. EMBRACING EACH OTHER, MYLES GILBERT, 09, MATTHEW WALLING, 10, AND WILLIAM "WILL" EDSON, 10, jump around on the gymnasium floor while wearing their unified basketball gear. The unified basketball team was among the many winter sports recognized at the Winter Assembly. Photo by S. Moses.
2. JUMPING AROUND, BRENDON CRISPE, 12, celebrates with peers after winning a class competitions. Competitions were played to promote community and healthy competition "[School spirit] is super important because it unites the school together," Crispe said. Photo by Anastasia Thau.
3. LAUGHING IN THE ART ROOM, PARKER WELLS, 09, AND AVERY SILVERMAN, 09, create flowers out of Play-Doh. Both students were in design class, which taught students how to create art using 3D mediums. "My favorite part was being able to make my own design," Wells said. "We followed instruction for a little bit, but then we got a ton of time to be creative and make our own thing." Photo by S. Piper.

1. ARM OUTSTRETCHED, ANNAMAE "ANNIE" BARBOUR, 09, dives for the ball in a match against Cherry Creek High School on October 5. Barbour played on the freshman volleyball team. "Volleyball has given me a community because not only did I get to meet other freshmen, but upperclassmen too. The biggest lesson I have learned is that it's good to challenge myself," Barbour said. Photo courtesy of Cara Syers.

2. WALKING INTO FRESHMAN ORIENTATION, VANESSA PECK, 09, exchanges a high five with Link Crew Leader Analiese Crew, 12. LINK Leaders brought students on a school tour and led team bonding activities. "I was introduced to school spirit during freshman orientation by learning our different cheers, singing the Fight Song, and seeing so many of the teachers and students wearing Arapahoe gear," Peck said. Photo by A. Anderson.

YOUR FUTURE IS UNFOLDING.

Not then. Not later. RIGHT NOW.
That's why you're not slowing down.

Was it really only two months ago that you were intimidated by cheering LINK Crew Leaders and struggling to navigate the daily Trophy Hallway traffic jam?

An extra 15 minutes in class feels like nothing as you balance four AP classes and volleyball practice.

The odd schedule times barely even phase you now.

WAIT.

IS IT AN EVEN DAY OR AN ODD DAY?

YOU DON'T HAVE TO DO IT ALONE.

You're bringing the anticipation and game day jitters and we're packing the stands. We're turning heads as we pass your AP Studio Art drawing in the hallways during the fall art show.

We're cheering you on as you rush from homecoming court crowning to the second half of your football game.

SURE

YOUR ACTIONS AS AN INDIVIDUAL DRIVE YOUR LIFE,
BUT THEY ALSO DRIVE THE COMMUNITY.

ALL THIS MEANS IS

YOU BRING YOU
WE BRING US

2. UNDER THE INSTRUCTION OF NICOLAS BABCOCK, TECHNOLOGY & ENGINEERING DEPT., JACKSON PUMPHREY, 12, builds a chicken coop in his construction technology class. Pumphrey followed blueprints and built each part of the chicken coop by hand. "I found it so cool to build something someone else could use. It was one of the best projects I've done in any class," Pumphrey said. Photo by C. Dix.

We're sending 10 wrestlers to the state competition and cheering on the 14 Colorado All State choir singers. We're greeting Mrs. Wennerstrom at the bubble and laughing at her daily jokes. We're joining clubs at Club Cafe and sending musicians to the Colorado All State Philharmonic Orchestra.

WE RISE TO THE OCCASION AS ONE.

Pushing our own limits and reaching new heights.

That means you should bring your A-game.
Or your B-game. Or your C-game.
You can't be on all the time.

But when you have an off day,

WE'LL PICK UP THE SLACK.

"I like being on the team with other players in the district because it helps to connect the schools and to meet new people," Fredericks said. Photo by M. Watts.

SPRING

WE'RE REPPING BLACK AND OLD GOLD.

We're attending boys lacrosse games to witness their undefeated run and showing up to the Warrior Week assembly ready to celebrate for a cause.

EVEN TWO SNOW DAYS CAN'T DAMPEN OUR SPIRIT.

We're traveling to the Wind River Reservation to learn and to renew our connection with the Arapaho Nation.

WE TAKE CARE OF EACH OTHER. ALWAYS.

Because we understand that the strength of a community comes from the strength of its individuals.

A community is more than just a collection of people. It's a group of individuals.

WE'RE CONNECTED.

Connected not just by a building, but also by our drive, our passion, and our goals.

Some believe that the actions of one don't affect the outcome of the whole.

THEY'RE WRONG.

After all, it only takes one person to start a movement. To make someone feel included.

AND WE HAVE THE CONFIDENCE TO START.

The confidence to join brand new EPIC classes and start a new trade. The conviction to take our efforts and lessons from AP and CE classes and use them in our next steps.

JUST LOOK AT YOU.

NO ONE CAN SAY YOU DON'T HAVE HIGH AMBITIONS.

HERE'S WHAT MAKES THIS COMMUNITY UNIQUE:

We're all passionate about something.
Striving towards something.

OUR SEPARATE PATHS AREN'T SO SEPARATE AFTER ALL.

Every step of the way we are besides each other.

We're in the stands as you sing the Fight Song.
YOU DON'T EVEN HAVE TO LOOK AT THE LYRICS ON THE WALL ANYMORE.
We're watching with rapt attention as you perfectly execute that choir solo you have been working so hard to get.
We fill the hallways as you rush from AP Environmental to World Literature.

YOU STAND OUT.

You are simply one person in this community and yet you are an instrumental part of the culture. Your footsteps fill the hallways, your voice echoes off the theater walls during your Mean Girls performance, and your handprint will remain on the T-Hall wall long after you leave the building.

IT'S HARD NOT TO BE SWEEPED UP IN IT ALL.

YOU REALIZE THAT
