we're tied because
we include
we're kind
we're authentic
we're united by
genius and goodness
and joined by
the mission
that ignites
and nurtures
it in us all.
Everywhere.
Always.
