Working Hard, Hardly Working//

LEFT: Mrs. Nawrocki, faculty, set up the large display case in front of the library for Black History Month.

RIGHT: Mrs. Crunkleton, faculty, worked hard away at her desk.

BOTTOM: Mr. Cooper, faculty, and Mrs. Lacey, faculty, chill out at Mrs. Miller's, faculty, desk.

Help at Every Corner

From providing guidance through their educational journeys to casual conversations during passing periods, Odyssey's staff is always there for their students. Faculty welcomes students to seek them out for help with classwork to life advice. They also encourage students to be open about their struggles so they can offer the best avenue for assistance. No matter what hallway or room they enter, students always have a support system.

TOP: Mr. Cooper, staff, held his cake from Jamie Marshall, 10, to celebrate 100 days of not losing his cool.

BOTTOM: Maryah Brutus, 11, Caidence Ard, 10, and Serinity Lucero, 11, made buttons together in counseling.

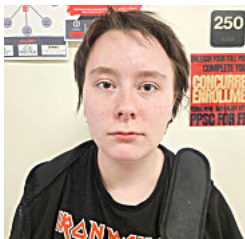

The Little Things//

While not everything takes place in the classroom, students notice and appreciate a what is done for them.

Caidence Ard, 10//

Q: Is there anything that counseling has done for you?.

A: I don't go in there often but Mrs. Everette hosts the GSA club and it's fun to talk to her in there. The counselors also have helped a lot with my scheduling.

Laela Ruble, 11//

Q: What has counseling done to help you?

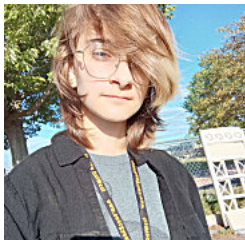

A: The counselors have helped with my scheduling and any questions or concerns I might have had. They have also given me fidget toys when I need them for the day.

Charlee Simmons, 11//

Q: Is there anything that the counselors do for you?

A: I would struggle getting my work done a lot, mostly during freshman year. They would let me work in there if I needed to which I thought was really helpful.

Dr. Eaton's, faculty, Favorite Quote:

"Unless someone like you cares a whole awful lot, nothing is going to get better. It's not."

- Dr. Seuss, The Lorax

LESS TO WORRY ABOUT//

1. Counseling doesn't only help with scheduling and hard times. Mrs. Stenger, faculty, helps to keep stress toys readily available for students.
2. With no work to do during a free period, Mrs. Nawrocki, faculty, makes sure to have various activities for students to do in the library.
3. Whether a student comes in late or has an appointment Mrs. Vest, faculty, helps out students accounted for.

STUDENT LIFE

Behind The Scenes

Something is always going on at Odyssey, but not always in the classroom. For students to be able to work toward their Associates degree, a skilled staff is needed to assist every step of the way.

Odyssey's principal, Mrs. Miller, started the 2023-2024 academic year ready to help students from day one. Constantly working alongside faculty and students to improve Odyssey for future years, her start as Odyssey's new principal has given the school a newfound sense of structure.

Odyssey's counseling staff is a crucial part of the students support system. Not only do they assist with student's schedules and keeping them on track for graduation, but Odyssey's counselors are always ready to listen to a student when they need a shoulder to lean on.

Odyssey's teachers are one of a kind. Each selected for their specialty in the subjects they teach, Odyssey's teachers get to connect with students and make extraordinary memories together.

"I look forward to working here because of the challenge and the people I meet while working here."
-Mr. Barton, faculty
