

EFFORT CAN TAKE YOU A Mile

When was the last time you pushed yourself to the absolute limit?

This year Euclid's track and field teams did exactly that. They pushed themselves to the point where their lungs were burning so hard they could barely breathe and to the point where their legs were so sore that they could barely run the last stretch of the race. Through the ups and downs, sprints and jumps, the Euclid track and field team proved themselves to be too good to be forgotten.

The 8th-grade teams - boys and girls - took 2nd in the district meet.

"I was really nervous because y'all trained hard and I wanted you to do well," said Ms. Morris, an 8th grade coach, just before the district championships. Later she said, "I was just really proud of you guys. I watched everyone run their hearts out and do their best."

Story by Emmy Garland and Elliot Roberts

JUMPING HIGH During the hurdles Stella Williams, 07, is strives to win in her race against Newton during a 7th grade track meet.

Photo by Elsa Rodriguez

LEAPING FAR During a 7th grade track meet, Timothy Kellogg runs hurdles. Photo by Elliot Roberts

September 11