Who's your favorite
MOHI militia member?

Inherited from: Zane Miley

Strengths: Best fit, funniest, feared by opponent

"I love how long the Militia has been at Monarch. It's one of the longest traditions here, and I am so glad to be a part of it. Cheering for our football team and being one of the leaders of the student section will be the most memorable."

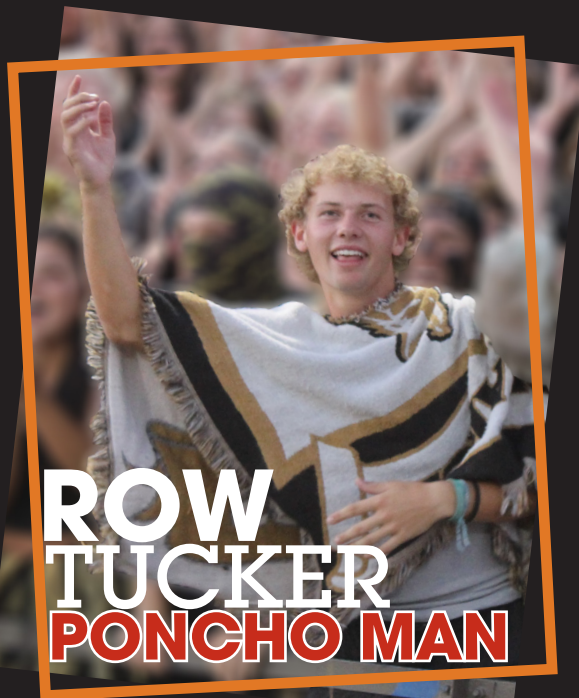

— Anderson Morgan (12)

shout-out

Strength: Stands out

"Supporting our school at football games is definitely really cool. We have a lot of school pride, and I know many schools in our district where they don't have as much of that."

— William Miles (12)

Inherited from: John Hayes

Strengths: Hype, spirited, committed

"The environment at the football games and the energy of the all the students and just like the excitement building up to the games is always the best part. As a senior, the memories I will have when being with everyone is important. Finally, being in the from row and getting to bring the energy to the student section has been really fun."

— Row Tucker (12)

shout-out

Strength: Best Chanter

"I love the energy we all bring to the games. I will always remember the different chants we have because they are so good, and other schools just don't have good chants."

— Tilly Thomason (12)

Inherited from: Julia Bethune & Veronica Mireles

Strengths: Cutest, best duo, earliest to games

"Being a part of Mohi Militia is so fun. I love being able to lead the student section. Even though I had the tutu, I love to go all out with spirit gear adding headbands, necklaces, and face paint. I think every student at Monarch should go to all sport events and cheer their loudest to support the players."

— Sophia Stalter (12)

"Football games are a great way to unite the student body, and it is so fun when people get involved. When everyone is loud and participates in the cheers, it makes the whole student section more fun."

— Megan Durfee (12)

Inherited from: Arnaud Agasse

Strengths: Loudest, leader, #1 ref hater

"Being a barrel boy is so fun, and I can have a good time screaming and yelling with my friends. I was able to be barrel boy because I was pretty good friends with the guy who was it last year. He offered it to me, and I said sure. At football games, I am very loud, and I tend to take leadership when directing cheers."

— Finn Gardner (12)
