CHAOS ENSUES IN THE
LANCER PARKING LOT

BESTSELLING BOOTH

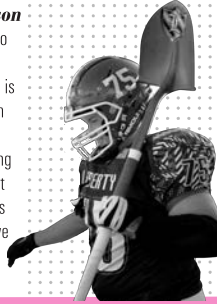

Tailgate brings in a lot of money for clubs and sports but the best selling booth this year was Baseball. They set up nets for people to test their pitch abilities, as well as selling old jerseys around the event. People just like Dylan Desimone ⁰⁹ bought their own jersey to show their spirit and even wear for the homecoming game. Now, many students and staff are seen sporting these jerseys on spirit days, theme days, and various school events.

TAILGATE traditions

Striking the Lancer Bell with a hammer, Jackson Hunt ¹² prepares to go into another Liberty victory. Ringing the bell is a football team tradition before every game, declaring to the opposing team that they've. "I felt ready to prove ourselves and show them what we can do," said Hunt.

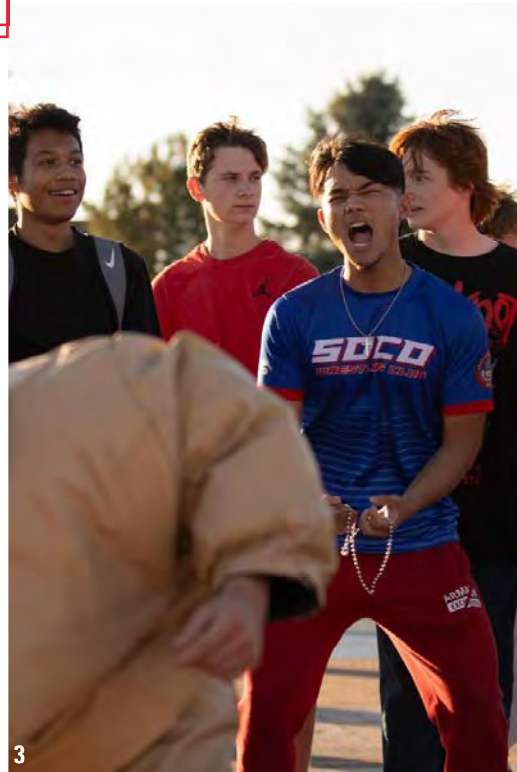

Carrying the Lancer Shovel over his shoulder, Joshua Schenkman ¹¹ proudly displays his prize from the Hinkley game. Players are awarded to carry the shovel by doing the "dirty work" in the previous game. Schenkman blocks for his team and may not usually get recognized, so him winning the Lancer Shovel was a way for him to get recognized.

Holding on to the Lancer Hammer, Kaine Lachermeier ¹² stands tall before the Homecoming Game. In his last game he earned the right to the hammer by taking the hardest hits. "It really inspired me to play hard and prove that I deserved it and it was one of my biggest games of the season," Lachermeier said.

1. HURLING A PLATE FULL OF WHIPPED CREAM at Kaleb Valenzuela's ¹¹ face, Kayla Talamantes ¹⁰ smiles with pride. "Pie in the Face" was the booth hosted by the Juggling Club at Tailgate, a fundraising event hosted at Liberty before every Homecoming Game. "I was taken by surprise when Kayla asked to throw a pie in my face", Valenzuela, her friend, laughed. "She was laughing because I told her that she really didn't let up. She was pretty proud of herself." photo by tazlynn prigge

2. SPLASHING WATER OUT OF THE TANK while climbing out, Mrs. Benson laughs at having been dunked by one of her students. She signed up to be dunked at the Softball fundraising dunk tank and was a great sport about being plunged into cold water over and over. photo by emily robertson

3. CHEERING AT THE TOP OF HIS LUNGS, Zain Leon Guerrero ¹² screams at his friend sumo wrestling at the Wrestling booth. Passionately encouraging him to win the battle, he was so proud and hoped they would come out victorious. Some may say it's "not that serious" but clearly to Zain, it is. This is a fight for honor and pride, with everything on the line. photo by tazlynn prigge.

4. BASKING IN A WHIPPED CREAM FACE MASK, Gavin Bartle ¹⁰ enjoys the break from being smacked in the face. As an active participant of Juggling Club's "Pie in the Face" tailgate event, Gavin volunteered to be pied by anyone willing to pay. By the end, he had been slapped with whipped cream too many times to count, and was relieved to enjoy the rest of tailgate when his shift was up and it was somebody else's turn. photo by tazlynn prigge.

5. "BUZZZZ!" HEARD MR. VAZNELIS as he sits in a chair with only half his head of hair and slight embarrassment. Staying truly committed to Latin Club, he lets students pay to cut, color, and style his hair any way they choose. Keely Stafford ¹² proudly shaves a sharp line down the side of Mr. V's head. Despite a bright pink and half shaved head he stays smiling strong. photo by tazlynn prigge.

6. SPINNING STICKS OF COTTON CANDY at the Environmental Club booth, Mia De Klerk ¹² was determined to collect as many tickets from sales that she could. Making hundreds of cotton candy bundles that day, she worked hard for the tickets she received and was pleased to see how much her hard work paid off. photo by tazlynn prigge.

7. Wrestling for her life and struggling to keep her feet on the ground, Kacie Munger ¹¹ fights against Aiyana Molina ¹¹ who challenged her at the Wrestling booth. As Munger hangs on for dear life, she hopes her friend won't drop her. photo by emily robertson.
