

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Senior Sunrise starts off the year for seniors and makes leaving become a reality. "I want to go to Colorado University of Boulder and study Music," Thomas Goodwin said. Since the beginning of his high school years, Goodwin has had a plan for himself. Photo by N. Gokidi

P.A.R.T.Y Seeing all of his friends when it was time for senior sunrise made Freddy Cubas reflect on opportunities this year will bring. "This is the last year to hangout with everyone and I just want to have fun," Cubas said. He wanted to spend his last year making unforgettable memories. Photo by N. Gokidi

BRIGHT AND EARLY When there is an exciting event the next day who could possibly sleep? "I felt good waking up so early because of how excited I was for the sunrise," Kaela Lewis said. Senior sunrise had everyone excited because it was the start of the last year of high school. Photo by N. Gokidi

LEAVING A LEGACY Huldah Belaye thinks back on her legacy while looking at the sunrise, posing for a picture. "I want people to remember that I tried to make an impact on the school that was an impact on me," Huldah Belaye said. The sun coming up brought new horizons for Belaye to realize that the little things like a legacy could mean so much. Photo by N. Gokidi

A Perfect morning

Senior sunrise starts senior year with a bang. Touching the hearts of so many seniors. Watching the sun rise up upon Legacy Stadium bright and early, Alex Guthrie stands on the grassy hill outside of Legacy Stadium watching the sun rise with his closest friends. "It really just makes me think about how much me and my friends have grown up. It's been five years but it doesn't feel like anything has changed," Guthrie said. He began his last year of high school and continued to make memories with the same friends he sat with at lunch in sixth grade.

Many come to share this special moment with the people they have spent the past four years together with and come with that means reality. Everyone was laughing and taking photos.

Chloe Jachowicz stood with a group of her friends, taking a

"In my overall's, I used Taylor Swift, my grad year, and school colors"
P.Laurence

Kicking off Senior year with the sunrise got everyone in a sunset state of mine picture as the sun rises.

"I want to be happy with the life that I built for myself. My number one goal is to always have fun," Jachowicz said. For Jachowicz, senior year was a test run of the real world and she hoped to live it to the fullest.

A new day comes with new memories. Many have been made in the shortest amount of time. Many are made with friends. Parikrama Chamlagain and her friend Harshita pose for a picture at senior sunrise before taking on the last day of their first week of senior year."

The way the sun rises is the sign of a new day and making lots of fun memories with your friends," Chamlagain said. Despite the stresses of being a senior, Chamlagain looked forward to leading the school, participating in senior activities making memories.

WELCOME

Link Crew leaders show freshmen around the school

FRIENDLY FACES Link crew leader Emma Robertson helps her group of freshmen learn to feel comfortable at the school before their first day. "I wanted to be able to help kids and just kind of be the first friendly face they saw in high school," Robertson said. Orientation was a great way for freshmen to learn their way around the school before it was filled with people. Photo by N. Gokidi

NEW SCHOOL who dis

Freshmen find their place in the community at orientation

LESS STRESS The idea of talking in front of others can be one of the largest sources of stress during the first week of school. Remembering her own first day anxieties, Claire Sitko thinks of advice to give to the future freshmen. "Don't stress out about it. It's a lot less overwhelming than you think it'll be," Sitko said. By the end of her first day, Sitko realized high school is not as daunting as it once seemed. Photo by N. Gokidi

GROWING PAINS The jump from middle school to high school can be challenging with questions about what to expect. "Freshman orientation was worth going to because I got to learn about how the school would work and the policies that would affect me," Jonathan Sutton said. This first day was crucial for new students because it taught them about the standards that would impact them for years to come. Photo by N. Gokidi

OVERALL best

Decorating overalls is a fun way for seniors to start their last year

H. Konda

N. Situmeang

M. Senkus

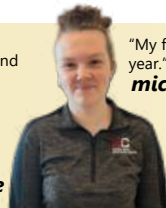

K. Pierson

CONNECT four

"My favorite activity is debate because it's time consuming and fun."
savana al tawwash

"I am involved in theatre and speech debate."
michaela payne

"My favorite class is calculus this year."
michaela payne

"My favorite class is math."
marie mayl

"I have three dogs."
marie mayl

"I have two mini Golden Doodles."
paige march

senior sunrise.link crew.senior overalls.

S. Cross, M. Glickman, M. Friedrich

019