

RUN IT UP

The class of '24 wins powderpuff for the second year in a row

1. CATCH HER IF YOU CAN. After a handoff, Savannah Pohl (12) attempts to outrun Ella Augustaitus (11) to score a touchdown. Augustaitus grabbed Pohl's flags, ripping her shirt during the attempt. We kind of knew it was going to be more of a running game so we focused on those little details in the plays," Pohl said. 2. HIGH AND TIGHT. Sasha Bruckner (11) protects the football while making a forward attempt to the end zone. The juniors played a tight game with the seniors that involved lots of preparation, scoring touchdowns, and playing defense. "We had some very intense practices with our coaches and we worked a lot on our plays and our offense," Bruckner said. 3. LET'S GET HYPE. Ella Andersen (12) hypes up her team before the game against the juniors. After winning last year's powderpuff match, this year's seniors looked to improve to 2-0 in their powderpuff careers. "I was just talking about how the juniors had nothing on us and that we were definitely gonna win. We just had to be confident, catch the ball, and run our routes. You know, get it done," Andersen said. 4. MAKE A PLAY. Sadie Stasko (11) runs the football through a crowd of defenders, finding a gap in the defense to make a play. The juniors worked tirelessly to perfect their plays to attempt their takedown of the seniors. "My preparation for Powderpuff was probably just showing up to all the practices to know what to do in the game," Stasko said. photos by ethan albertson

ALL FUN AND GAMES

Clubs throughout the school set up games students to play to kick off homecoming weekend

Participating in his own booth, Austin Elliott (11) attempts NHS's donut on a string. The carnival let's students interact with other clubs and get to play games at each booth. "My favorite was probably the high school of business ring toss and being able to get a drink if you get a ring on it," Elliott said.

Brooklyn Rowinski (10) laughs with Mr. David Hoffmaster while running the drama booth. The homecoming carnival brought lots of people together because of the football game and dance later that weekend. "A lot of people were dressed up which brought a lot of hype and spirit throughout the event," Rowinski said.

Miles Miller (11) sells shirts at the FBLA booth. Lots of preparation went into the FBLA booths at the carnival because they sold shirts and also had games for other students to play. "We set up our booth where we sold some T-shirts that supported school spirit and had different sports and activities around the school on them, and then we set up ring toss which was a game that you could play at the carnival," Miller said.

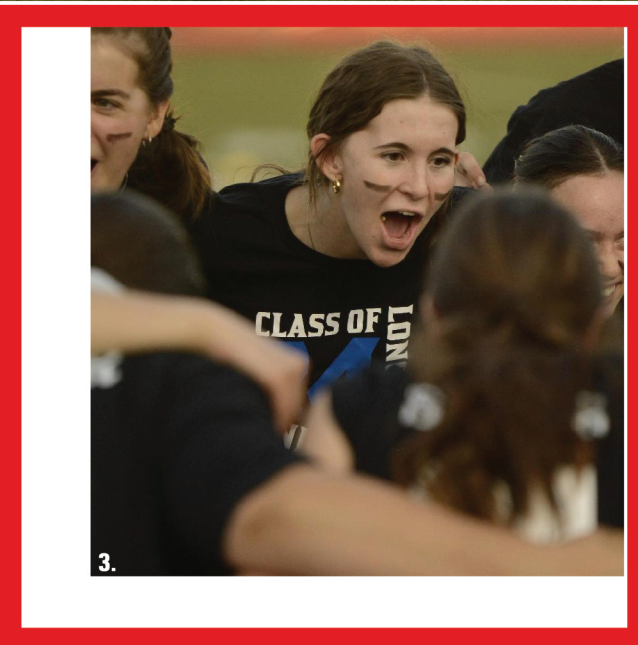

Wyatt Bogue (10) throws a water balloon towards Barbie dolls at the NHS's Barbie bowling booth. The game was inspired by the homecoming theme and new movie. "My favorite part of the game was getting to throw a water balloon and getting candy for it," Bogue said.

HOMECOMING ROYALTY

Erik Swanson (12) and Uma Champe (12) win Homecoming King and Queen

3.

WHO'S GOT SPIRIT?

7 students who went all in for spirit week take us through their outfits

MONDAY CROCS, SOCKS & BIRKENSTOCKS
"I wanted to support the school and show my school spirit and I thought it would be fun to do with my friends," Wheaton said.

Hannah Wheaton (10)

TUESDAY NEON DAY
"Neon day was obvious, I'm neon man," Swanson said.

Erik Swanson (12)

WEDNESDAY CLASS COLORS DAY
"I wanted to show my support for the juniors as they go in to their powderpuff game," Bermudez said.

Tony Bermudez (11)

THURSDAY BARBIE DAY
"I got this outfit at the Spirit Halloween store and I thought, dang we have Barbie day, I have to wear this," Nasyzbekova said.

Saliman Nasyzbekova (12)

FRIDAY STAY-A-FLOAT DAY
"I chose this outfit because it is very vibrant and stands out and made everyone smile," Davis said.

Izabella Davis (11)